STATEMENT: 6th Circuit Court of Appeals Upholds Michigan's Ban on Same-Sex Marriages

"MICHIGAN – The U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals today denied the freedom to marry to LGBTQ families in four states, including Michigan, delivering a rare defeat in the courts to the freedom to marry, which has seen 49 victories in the courts since June 2013. The appellate court issued its decision three months after hearing same-sex marriage cases from all four states. In each of those states, federal judges had struck down same-sex marriage bans on constitutional grounds. In February, U.S. District Judge Bernard Friedman declared Michigan's ban unconstitutional, but Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette appealed."

Shameful Sixth Circuit Decision Upholds Discriminatory Marriage Bans in MI, OH, KY, TN

"WASHINGTON – Today the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit overturned lower court rulings that struck down Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and Tennessee bans on marriage equality. Until today, no state marriage ban had survived a federal circuit court ruling. What's more, the Supreme Court of the United States issued an order last month allowing the pro-marriage equality rulings from the Fourth, Seventh and Tenth Circuits to stand, immediately making marriage for same-sex couples possible in five new states – with many more following soon after. The decision today by the Sixth Circuit creates a circuit court split, which increases the likelihood of the Supreme Court taking up the issue in the near future. In response to today's ruling, Human Rights Campaign (HRC) president Chad Griffin issued the following statement:"

Massive Lake Huron Wind Development Planned for Key Migratory Bird Corridor

"Washington, DC, November 6, 2014) American Bird Conservancy (ABC) has raised serious concerns about a plan by Heritage Sustainable Energy, DTE Energy, Exelon Corporation, and NextEra Energy to construct additional commercial wind turbines in Huron County, Michigan, which could eventually result in up to 900 turbines in the area. This plan is advancing despite the fact that U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) radar studies show vast numbers of birds migrating through or wintering in this area."

How to understand Michigan's 2015 health care premiums

"Michiganians are now knee deep in the Affordable Care Act's second open enrollment period, which began on Nov. 15 and closes on Dec. 15. Many are finding what appears to be a pleasant surprise: Average premiums for the cheap "bronze" plans have increased by 3.9 percent, while premiums for the middle-of-the-road "silver" plans are rising by 4.1 percent. The Affordable Care Act's naysayers predicted "double digit" spikes, or worse."

New Report: Climate Change Has Extreme Rain Storms in Michigan Trending Way Up

"CHICAGO (December 4, 2014) – The kind of deluges that flooded Detroit this year and Grand Rapids last year are part of a 50-year trend of increasingly frequent extreme storms in Michigan, according to a new study released today by the Rocky Mountain Climate Organization (RMCO) and the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC). Big storms, leading to big floods, are occurring with increasing frequency in the Great Lakes State, with incidences of the most severe downpours nearly doubling over the last half century statewide—and becoming even more acute in southern Michigan, home to most of the state's population, the report finds."

Volume #54, Report #9 -- Tuesday, January 13, 2015

More Republicans Starting To Call For Agema's Ouster

The possibility of Republicans trying to find a way to oust controversial Republican National Committeeman Dave Agema from his post gained fresh life Tuesday as Senate Republicans circulated a letter urging the RNC to remove him from office, and at least one other state party chair did the same.

The Agemania Meter had fallen in the past year as Mr. Agema seemed to have curbed his need to post on Facebook essays from other authors slandering entire groups of people, but it has risen again in the past 10 days. On December 31, Mr. Agema posted a racist essay from someone purporting to be a current or former public defender that attacks the intelligence and capabilities of African-Americans.

Past targets of essays from other authors Mr. Agema has posted on his Facebook are gays and lesbians as well as Muslims.

Tuesday, the National Journal reported that the chair of the Republican Party of Virginia is circulating a letter among fellow members of the RNC expel Mr. Agema from this week's meeting in San Diego and then permanently remove him.

Then, Senate Majority Floor Leader Mike Kowall (R-White Lake) began circulating a letter urging the RNC to oust him.

The problem is that Republican officials have said for more than a year that the only way to remove an official elected by the party is if he or she commits a felony.

However, in recent days, some Republicans have raised the idea of using Robert's Rules of Order, under which the RNC meets, to expel Mr. Agema, either temporarily or permanently.

Mr. Kowall's letter, co-signed by Sen. James Marleau (R-Lake Orion) and Rep. Jim Tedder (R-Clarkston), urges the RNC "to take all necessary action to end our party's long nightmare involving your fellow RNC member Dave Agema."

The letter states that because Mr. Agema has refused calls for his resignation, the RNC should make him "persona non grata," a Latin term that translates to person not welcome.

"The RNC has the authority to do so either on a temporary basis at each of its meetings or permanently under parliamentary procedure," the three legislators state in the letter. "While we are disappointed it has come down to this, we believe this course of action is the only way to stop Mr. Agema's hateful rhetoric from further tarnishing our party. We urge RNC members, our colleagues and like-minded Michiganders to join us in stepping up and acknowledging that enough is enough."

Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof (R-West Olive) offered one of the most stinging denunciations yet from a Republican elected official of Mr. Agema in demanding he resign.

"When the ignorance and stupidity of one individual overshadows the good work done by so many other Republicans, it is incumbent upon those of us who know better to speak up and demand accountability. Dave Agema clearly has no shame, otherwise he would have already resigned," Mr. Meekhof said in a prepared statement. "With so many more important issues and ideas to address, it is unfortunate that the Senate Republicans, or anyone, would have to take time away from serving the hardworking taxpayers of Michigan to deal with someone as irrelevant and arrogant as this disgraced national committeeman."

Darren Littell, spokesperson for the Michigan Republican Party, said Michigan Republican Party Chair Bobby Schostak stands by his previous calls for Mr. Agema to resign. As to the new calls Tuesday for the RNC to oust Mr. Agema, Mr. Littell said the state party has explored many options on how to deal with the Agema situation.

Mr. Agema did not return a message seeking comment. He did, however, take to Facebook again on Tuesday to defend himself, insisting that he had not agreed with the essay he posted. But when Mr. Agema first posted the item on Facebook, he also did not offer any commentary to suggest what he thought about it other than possibly to describe it as "very enlightening."

As he has previously, Mr. Agema has cited former U.S. Rep. Allen West's posting of the article as a defense. Mr. West, who is black, had circulated the essay under a headline calling the article racist yet in the text of his comments about the essay praising its message.

"I respect the former congressman and fellow military officer highly and regard his opinions since he grew up in the inner city as a black man who has personal experience. I think his observations are noteworthy and he is certainly not a racist nor am I for reposting his opinions," Mr. Agema wrote. "To take a sentence out of an article that Col. West calls a racist article and use it to call myself and Col. West a racist is ridiculous and deceptive reporting."

Supreme Court Tackles State Employee RTW, Pension Cases

The Supreme Court was essentially asked to rule that unions, or at least collective bargaining, are a condition of employment, but pensions are not in two key state employment cases argued Tuesday.

In deciding what is a condition of employment for state civil service workers, the court could also be determining the limits of authority for the Civil Service Commission.

Union attorneys urged the court to overturn the Court of Appeals ruling (International Union v. Green, SC docket No. 147700) that the new right-to-work law applies to state employees, but to uphold the appellate court's finding (Michigan Coalition of State Employee Unions v. Michigan, SC docket No. 147758) that only the commission can approve the 4 percent surcharge the Legislature added to cover retirement health care costs.

Most of the questioning came from Republican members of the bench, and often they appeared unsatisfied with both sides' definition of conditions of employment.

William Wertheimer, attorney for the state employee unions in both cases, said the Court of Appeals crossed a long-established line in finding right-to-work applied to state employees.

"The commission alone regulates conditions of employment for classified employees," he said. "The Legislature's not allowed to meddle with classified employment."

Unions, he said, are not conditions of employment. But collective bargaining is, making the agency fees the unions charge legitimate.

"The issue is a fee which the parties negotiated," Mr. Wertheimer said. "It pays for collective bargaining that the commission has decided is an appropriate way to deal with the employee-employer relationship."

But justices questioned whether the commission had the sole authority to make that decision.

Justice Stephen Markman noted that the Constitution provides the commission the authority to regulate conditions of employment. "Perhaps the term 'regulate' should be given its ordinary meaning ... Something distinctive from legislative," he said. "The Legislature has the distinctive authority relative to hours and conditions."

But Chief Justice Robert Young Jr. questioned what collective bargaining is if it is, as Assistant Solicitor General Ann Sherman argued, not a condition of employment.

Ms. Sherman agreed with Justice Mary Beth Kelly that it is a process of negotiating conditions of employment.

"It's a relationship with a third party that to some extent impacts many areas of employment, but is not itself a condition of employment," Ms. Sherman said of collective bargaining.

Ms. Sherman said mandatory union dues or agency fees also run afoul of the Constitution's plan for paying for state employment oversight: the 1 percent of payroll provided to the commission.

"The people appear to have intended that the 1 percent wouldn't be passed on to the (employees)," she said. "Who pays for it is important ... Because the 1 percent is in the Constitution."

She said the bargaining process is also outside the bounds of the Constitution because the commission essentially delegates that to the Office of the State Employer in the Executive Office rather than conducting those talks itself

"Collective bargaining is not consistent with the whole idea of a civil service commission," Ms. Sherman said, adding that collective bargaining was not considered when the provisions regarding the commission were added to the Constitution.

If the drafters of the Constitution had wanted to include collective bargaining, "they could have said all conditions of employment and all mechanisms leading to those conditions," Ms. Sherman said.

"And that would have been more clear?" Mr. Markman said.

John Bursch, former solicitor general in this case representing the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, said the Constitution provided a hierarchy of powers. "The Legislature has authority to enact laws," he said. "The commission has the lesser power to regulate."

If the commission had the authority to exempt itself from the right-to-work law, Mr. Bursch said, what would stop it from ignoring other laws like the Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act or child labor laws.

"The people drafting the Constitution knew how to exempt the Civil Service Commission from legislative authority if they wanted to," he said.

Though the role of appellant and appellee switched, state and union attorneys made essentially the same arguments on the retiree health care charge.

Pension benefits are not a condition of employment, Assistant Attorney General Pat Fitzgerald said, because they were created by the Legislature. And the commission essentially conceded it had no role.

"If that were the case (that the commission has exclusive authority), then the Civil Service Commission has been missing in action for the last 70 years while the Legislature illegally acted," Mr. Fitzgerald said.

He noted that, while constitutional provisions on the commission do not mention pension benefits, provisions regarding State Police troopers do, so arguably pension benefits were not meant to be considered in the former.

Mr. Young and Mr. Markman both noted that the Constitution provides the Legislature with veto power over pay increases, but not over pension benefit changes.

Mr. Wertheimer countered that the commission, not the Legislature, came up with the idea of a pension. "Before it was enacted by the Legislature, the commission was retiring people on its own," he said. "The commission has been involved in the pension fund from the beginning."

And he said there was some thought that the Legislature has the authority to veto pension changes. He noted the Legislature's attempt to overturn providing health care benefits to same sex couples.

Mr. Young countered that, since the Legislature failed in that attempt, its use of that power had not been tested in the courts.

Mr. Wertheimer said pension benefits are also clearly a condition of employment. "If I'm an employee, whether or not I have a pension and I have to pay for it, that's compensation and a condition of employment," he said.

Mr. Young questioned why, then, the commission was merely an amicus to the case and not a party.

"You indicated they didn't have power more than any citizen has: to petition the Legislature for relief," Mr. Young said.

Ms. Kelly questioned what authority the commission would have to overturn the legislative change. "Once you want the form of a pension that's inconsistent with what the Legislature proposes and funds, the CSC doesn't have the resources to fund their proposal," she said.

Mr. Wertheimer said the commission would have to do what the unions have done: challenge the legislation in court.

Meekhof Names Senate Committees

Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof on Tuesday released a full list of the members of every Senate committee and Senate Appropriations subcommittee for the next four years.

"Having a large caucus means we have that many more people eager to be leaders in a variety of policy areas. As I have said before, our majority makes it possible for our members to focus their energy and attention on specific issue areas and lend their own experience and knowledge to the committee process," Mr. Meekhof (R-West Olive) said in a statement. "Together with our Democratic colleagues, I am confident we will see thoughtful and productive debate on a variety of topics and I expect us to take full advantage of a transparent and participatory committee process."

Mr. Meekhof had previously announced the chairs of the standing committees and Appropriations subcommittees.

Among the more notable changes are that Sen. Patrick Colbeck (R-Canton Township) and Sen. Bert Johnson (D-Highland Park) will no longer serve on the Appropriations Committee. Senate Minority Floor Leader Morris Hood III (D-Detroit) also departs the committee, but he is also taking on the No. 2 post in the Democratic Caucus.

The committees will be composed as follows:

AGRICULTURE: Sen. Joe Hune (R-Whitmore Lake) as chair, Sen. Mike Green (R-Mayville) as vice chair, Sen. Wayne Schmidt (R-Traverse City), Sen. Darwin Booher (R-Evart) and Sen. Virgil Smith (D-Detroit) as minority vice chair

APPROPRIATIONS: Sen. Dave Hildenbrand (R-Lowell) as chair, Sen. Peter MacGregor (R-Cannon Township) as vice chair, Sen. Goeff Hansen (R-Hart), Sen. Jim Stamas (R-Midland), Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker (R-Lawton), Sen. Marty Knollenberg (R-Troy), Mr. Booher, Sen. Mike Shirkey (R-Clarklake), Sen. John Proos (R-St. Joseph), Sen. Mike Nofs (R-Battle Creek), Mr. Green, Sen. James Marleau (R-Lake Orion), Sen. Vincent Gregory (D-East Lansing) as minority vice chair, Sen. Hoon-Yung Hopgood (D-Taylor), Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr. (D-East Lansing), Sen. David Knezek (D-Dearborn Heights) and Sen. Coleman Young II (D-Detroit)

BANKING AND FINANCIAL SERVICES: Mr. Booher as chair, Sen. Margaret O'Brien (R-Portage) as vice chair, Mr. Nofs, Sen. Dale Zorn (R-Ida), Mr. MacGregor, Mr. Hertel as Minority Vice Chair and Mr. Smith

COMMERCE: Mr. Schmidt as chair, Senate Majority Floor Leader Mike Kowall (R-White Lake Township) as vice chair, Mr. MacGregor, Mr. Nofs and Mr. Hertel as minority vice chair

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND INTERNATIONAL INVESTMENT: Sen. Ken Horn (R-Frankenmuth) as chair, Mr. Schmidt as vice chair, Sen. Jack Brandenburg (R-Harrison Township), Mr. Stamas, Sen. Judy Emmons (R-Sheridan), Mr. Smith as minority vice chair and Sen. Steve Bieda (D-Warren)

EDUCATION: Sen. Phil Pavlov (R-St. Clair) as chair, Mr. Knollenberg as vice chair, Mr. Booher, Sen. Patrick Colbeck (R-Canton Township) and Mr. Knezek as minority vice chair

ELECTIONS AND GOVERNMENT REFORM: Sen. Dave Robertson (R-Grand Blanc) as chair, Mr. Colbeck as vice chair, Ms. Emmons, Mr. Shirkey and Senate Minority Floor Leader Morris Hood III (D-Detroit) as minority vice chair

ENERGY AND TECHNOLOGY: Mr. Nofs as chair, Mr. Proos as vice chair, Mr. Horn, Ms. Schuitmaker, Mr. Hune, Mr. Shirkey, Mr. Zorn, Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair, Mr. Knezek and Mr. Smith

FAMILIES, SENIORS AND HUMAN SERVICES: Ms. Emmons as chair, Mr. Pavlov as vice chair, Sen. Rick Jones (R-Grand Ledge), Sen. Tom Casperson (R-Escanaba) and Sen. Bert Johnson (D-Highland Park) as minority vice chair

FINANCE: Mr. Brandenburg as chair, Mr. Robertson as vice chair, Mr. Knollenberg, Mr. Casperson, Mr. Proos, Mr. Bieda as minority vice chair and Sen. Rebekah Warren (D-Ann Arbor)

GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS: Mr. Meekhof as chair, Mr. Hansen as vice chair, Mr. Kowall, Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich as minority vice chair and Mr. Hood

HEALTH POLICY: Mr. Shirkey as chair, Mr. Hune as vice chair, Ms. O'Brien, Mr. Marleau, Mr. Jones, Mr. Stamas, Mr. Robertson, Mr. Hertel as minority vice chair and Mr. Hopgood

INSURANCE: Mr. Hune as chair, Mr. Brandenburg as vice chair, Mr. Schmidt, Ms. O'Brien, Mr. Horn, Mr. Jones, Mr. Smith as minority vice chair, Mr. Bieda and Mr. Young

JCAR: Mr. Stamas as chair, Sen. Tory Rocca (R-Sterling Heights) as vice chair, Mr. Kowall, Mr. Hood as minority vice chair and Mr. Hertel

JUDICIARY: Mr. Jones as chair, Ms. Schuitmaker as vice chair, Mr. Rocca, Mr. Colbeck and Mr. Bieda as minority vice chair

LOCAL GOVERNMENT: Mr. Zorn as chair, Mr. Proos as vice chair, Mr. Brandenburg, Mr. Rocca and Mr. Young as minority vice chair

NATURAL RESOURCES: Mr. Casperson as chair, Mr. Pavlov as vice chair, Mr. Robertson, Mr. Stamas and Ms. Warren as minority vice chair

MICHIGAN COMPETITIVENESS: Mr. Shirkey as chair, Mr. Stamas as vice chair, Mr. Robertson, Mr. Proos and Ms. Warren as minority vice chair

OUTDOOR RECREATION AND TOURISM: Mr. Hansen as chair, Mr. Zorn as vice chair, Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Green and Mr. Johnson as minority vice chair

REGULATORY REFORM: Mr. Rocca as chair, Mr. Jones as vice chair, Mr. Knollenberg, Mr. Kowall, Mr. Marleau, Mr. Hune, Ms. Warren as minority vice chair, Mr. Hertel and Mr. Johnson

TRANSPORTATION: Mr. Casperson as chair, Mr. Horn as vice chair, Mr. Pavlov, Mr. Marleau, and Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair

VETERANS, MILITARY AFFAIRS AND HOMELAND SECURITY: Ms. O'Brien as chair, Ms. Emmons as vice chair, Mr. Zorn, Mr. Colbeck and Mr. Knezek as minority vice chair

Mr. Meekhof also appointed the following members to the Senate Appropriations subcommittees:

AGRICULTURE AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT: Mr. Green as chair, Mr. Stamas as vice chair and Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair

CAPITAL OUTLAY: Mr. Booher as chair, Mr. Nofs as vice chair, Ms. Schuitmaker, Mr. Hansen, Mr. MacGregor, Mr. Gregory as minority vice chair and Mr. Hertel

COMMUNITY COLLEGES: Mr. Booher as chair, Ms. Schuitmaker as vice chair and Mr. Knezek as minority vice chair

COMMUNITY HEALTH: Mr. Marleau as chair, Mr. Shirkey as vice chair, Mr. Hansen, and Mr. Hertel as minority vice chair

CORRECTIONS: Mr. Proos as chair, Mr. Knollenberg as vice chair and Mr. Gregory as minority vice chair

ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY: Mr. Green as chair, Mr. MacGregor as vice chair and Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair

HUMAN SERVICES: Mr. MacGregor as chair, Mr. Proos as vice chair and Mr. Gregory as minority vice chair

LICENSING AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS: Mr. Knollenberg as chair, Mr. Marleau as vice chair and Mr. Young as minority vice chair

NATURAL RESOURCES: Mr. Green as chair, Mr. Booher as vice chair and Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair

TRANSPORTATION: Mr. Hansen as chair, Mr. Knollenberg as vice chair and Mr. Young as minority vice chair

GENERAL GOVERNMENT: Mr. Stamas as chair, Mr. Nofs as vice chair, Mr. Booher and Mr. Young as minority vice chair

HIGHER EDUCATION: Ms. Schuitmaker as chair, Mr. MacGregor as vice chair and Mr. Hertel as minority vice chair

JUDICIARY: Mr. Proos as chair, Mr. Schuitmaker as vice chair and Mr. Young as minority vice chair

K-12, SCHOOL AID AND EDUCATION: Mr. Hansen as chair, Mr. Pavlov as vice chair and Mr. Hopgood as minority vice chair

STATE POLICE AND MILITARY AFFAIRS: Mr. Nofs as chair, Mr. Colbeck as vice chair and Mr. Knezek as minority vice chair

New House Members Prepare For Opening Day

On Wednesday a freshman caucus of 43 members with diverse backgrounds will be sworn in to the House of Representatives, where they will officially elect a new speaker who, with the Republican majority, will control much of the agenda for the next two years.

The 2015-16 term will see 43 new House members who are of varying backgrounds: gay, straight, some staunchly conservative, some more liberal, and four being under 30 years old.

On Wednesday, the full House will officially elect Rep. Kevin Cotter (R-Mount Pleasant) as speaker. He was already chosen by the 63-member Republican caucus to lead this term after four years with former House Speaker Jase Bolger (R-Marshall), who was term limited and is not returning to the House.

Other ceremonial functions will take place as well. The House will formally re-elect Gary Randall as the clerk and adopt its rules. The members will select their seats on the floor. And Mr. Cotter will give a speech to set the tone for the term.

While there has been speculation the new Republican caucus will be more conservative than the last, Rep. Eric Leutheuser (R-Hillsdale) said this election cycle was tough for most members, and those representing more competitive districts will want to be sure their constituents are represented.

"I really think it is a sharp bunch," he said. "This is not an election cycle where people coasted in. People ran hard to represent their districts and that will be reflected in the entire caucus."

Rep. Vanessa Guerra (D-Bridgeport), who will also serve as an assistant minority leader, joins Rep. Lee Chatfield (R-Levering), Rep. Aaron Miller (R-Sturgis) and Rep. Jeremy Moss (R-Southfield) in new representatives who are younger than 30 years old.

Ms. Guerra, 25, said she believes the younger members of the caucus will add perspective. She said her colleagues realize they can learn a lot from those serving who are younger, and she can also learn from her older colleagues as well.

"I think everybody has a good sense of humor about it," she said. "It mostly comes into play when they reference old legislators that probably served long before I was born."

Rep. Christine Greig (D-Farmington Hills) praised the diversity of the freshman caucus.

"When you look at everyone's backgrounds, we're going to have a great variety of perspectives coming in," she said. "The more perspectives you have, the less chance there is for unintended consequences."

Rep. Chris Afendoulis (R-Grand Rapids Township) said he is excited for "opening day." Mr. Afendoulis said there is more private sector experience in the freshman caucus than he expected, and he thinks that is a positive.

"(There's a) very wide range of interests and ages," he said. "I am on the higher end of the age scale."

On priorities, Mr. Afendoulis said he told constituents he would use his skills as a certified public accountant to analyze how money is spent in the state.

"I just think there's always ways to save money and I really want to take a hard look at that," he said.

Ms. Greig said public education is a top priority for her, as is looking at the talent and workforce development initiative.

Ms. Guerra also said education is a top priority for her. She said she will be bringing her local superintendent to Governor Rick Snyder's State of the State address next week.

Mr. Leutheuser said it is tough to pin down priorities without committee assignments. But, he said, since he works as a car dealer, he would like to have a strong voice in discussions regarding auto insurance.

He said he has told people back in the district the first few weeks serving as a state representative is a lot like the first year of college.

"The best analogy I have for it is we have been accepted into college ... and now you're in that waiting period, waiting for classes to begin," he said. "You know where your dorm room is, but you don't know much more yet."

Mr. Cotter has said he will release an agenda agreed to by the Republican caucus early in the term, which was done under Mr. Bolger. In a statement released Monday, Mr. Cotter noted 80 percent of the action plan released in the 2013-14 term was completed.

Consumers Gas Customers To See Rate Hike; Utility To Replace Infrastructure

The Public Service Commission on Tuesday approved a settlement agreement authorizing Consumers Energy Company to increase its natural gas rates by $45 million annually, or $1.97 for residential customers using 100 ccf of natural gas per month.

The rate change is effective immediately (Case U-17643).

As part of the settlement, the utility will also fund (at the rate of $75 million per year) and carry out requirements relating to its enhanced infrastructure replacement program. The program represents a 25-year incremental investment intended to upgrade the company's natural gas infrastructure, including about 540 miles of cast iron pipe.

The company will also implement a gas revenue decoupling mechanism.

As far as the rate increase, the utility had originally filed in July 2014 an application requesting an $88.3 million rate increase, so the amount approved in the settlement is 49 percent below the utility's request and represents an increase of 2.4 percent over the rates set in its last natural gas rate case in June 2012 (Case U-16855).

The settlement, the PSC said in a statement, reflects an authorized rate of return on common equity of 10.3 percent and an overall rate of return of 8.99 percent on a pre-tax basis and authorizes the utility to implement a residential customer charge and, for qualifying principal residence customers, an income assistance credit of $11.50 per customer per month.

The decision on the agreement with Consumers came in a 2-1 vote with Commissioner Greg White dissenting.

SEMCO ENERGY GAS RATES INCREASE: Residential customers using 100 therms of natural gas a month will see an increase of 14 cents on their monthly bill for bills rendered on and after February 1 under a settlement between the PSC and the utility to amend its energy optimization plan and revise its energy optimization surcharges (Case U-17362).

ST. CLAIR SHORES ELECTRIC SUPPLIER ADDED: The PSC also granted a license to Dillon Power, LLC, as an alternative electric supplier (Case U-17723). The company has an established office in St. Clair Shores.

The commission approved the license based on a determination that the company possesses the appropriate managerial and technical capabilities to serve customers in Michigan, as well as complies with other lawful obligations.

Snyder Turns To Earley As DPS's Fourth Emergency Manager

Detroit Public Schools is getting its fourth emergency manager in the six years since it first came under state control with Governor Rick Snyder seizing on an opening in the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act to prevent the elected school board from again running the district.

Mr. Snyder turned to now former Flint Emergency Manager Darnell Earley in a move he said was the best option to maintain progress as a coalition of community leaders evaluates a more fundamental, long-term overhaul of public education in the city.

On January 15, 18 months would have elapsed since Mr. Snyder appointed Jack Martin to run the district, and under the law, PA 436 of 2012, the school board could have voted out Mr. Martin and undergone a neutral evaluation process that could have led to the board regaining control. But by replacing Mr. Martin before 18 months had elapsed, Mr. Snyder avoided that scenario.

"To interject more variables and more change all at once is not a good answer," Mr. Snyder said of why he decided to continue with an emergency management structure.

Mr. Snyder has said many times that having an emergency manager run Detroit Public Schools has not yielded the same success that has occurred in several local governments.

"This isn't my preferred answer in many respects," he said. "But I don't think it would be prudent to leave while we still have financial issues."

DPS's student population has plummeted with students leaving the district for charter schools, other public schools, private schools or because their parents have moved out of the city. With funding tied to each student, the district's finances have remained in severe trouble.

Mr. Snyder and Mr. Earley touted the work he did in Flint, which Mr. Earley said he expected to see leave financial emergency status in about three months.

"Darnell Earley is an outstanding person to take this role," Mr. Snyder said.

Governor, AG Make Progress On UP Energy Solution

Governor Rick Snyder and Attorney General Bill Schuette have reached several agreements with utility companies in the Upper Peninsula aimed at ensuring long-term, cost-effective energy reliability for customers in the region in the wake of a decision by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission regarding a tariff that would've significantly impacted those customers.

Last October, legislators like Sen. Tom Casperson (R-Escanaba) spoke out against the FERC accepting the Midcontinent Independent System Operator's proposed System Support Resource (SSR) cost allocation tariff that would allocate about 99.5 percent of costs to utility customers in the U.P. At the time, Mr. Casperson urged the commission to reverse that acceptance.

But on Tuesday, Mr. Snyder and Mr. Schuette announced a series of agreements that lay the groundwork for the elimination of that costly utility rate payment. The proposed solutions meet two key goals for policymakers, a statement by Mr. Snyder's office noted: protecting the U.P. ratepayers from years of costly SSR payments for the Presque Isle Power Plant in Marquette and providing replacement electric generation in the U.P. to avoid a likely federal mandate to pay half a billion dollars or more to remain dependent on otherwise out-of-state coal plants.

"This is a critical development for the Upper Peninsula and our entire state. I commend all involved parties for their commitment to finding a solution and thank them for their many efforts in reaching this accord," Mr. Snyder said in the statement. "The solution these agreements advance ensure reliability, rids the U.P. of years of unaffordable charges, improves the environment and most of all gives the UP the power and ability to adapt to the future."

There are four agreements in principle.

The first is between UPPCO and We Energies (doing business as Wisconsin Public Service Corporation). The electric utility businesses now owned by WPSC, including the Presque Isle Power Plant, will be sold to UPPCO and thus a single U.P.-based corporation would provide electricity to a majority of the region. UPPCO, the governor's office said, indicated it would "step into" existing rates.

The second agreement deals with UPPCO and Cliffs Natural Resources. Upon acquisition of the power plant (expected no later than July), the SSR payments would be terminated and UPPCO would not seek an SSR. Cliffs would purchase a significant majority of its power from UPPCO until the power plant's retirement, which is anticipated in 2020 due to new federal air emission requirements that significantly impact that plant and other coal generators across the state.

Then there is an agreement between Cliffs and Invenergy indicating that Invenergy would build, own, and operate a new, natural, gas-powered, combined heat and power facility located on Cliffs' site. That facility would supply electricity and steam to Cliffs and excess energy to other local utilities (the facility is expected to begin operation in advance of the retirement of the Presque Isle Plant). This should resolve long-term reliability concerns, the governor's office indicated.

And finally, Mr. Snyder, Mr. Schuette, the Public Service Commission, Cliffs and We Energies have agreed to notify both the FERC and the PSC of their position of "no objection" to the merger of Wisconsin Energy and Integrys Energy Group, conditional on the previously mentioned agreements being approved.

While the effect on different electric customers will vary, they will see a reduction on their bills after the SSR payments end, which is likely to be in July, the statement noted. It also noted that without protection from those payments, residents could be asked to pay about $150 more a year, and businesses even more depending on their location and energy usage.

"Our primary goal is to protect UP families from unreasonable rate increases to the greatest extent possible," Mr. Schuette said. "We remain committed to vigorously opposing any short-term rate increases due to the costs of maintaining the Presque Isle Power Plant, but this agreement will help avoid long-term burdens on the UP ratepayers while increasing energy reliability and the opportunity for future growth."

Officials with UPPCO, Cliffs, Invenergy, and We Energies praised the agreements and collaborative work as well.

Fiscal Year Closes With $256M In Lapses

The state finished the 2013-14 fiscal year with $386.2 million in the rainy day fund in part because it spent $255.8 million less than budgeted, the final book closing report issued Tuesday showed.

The Comprehensive Annual Financial Report showed the state spent $51.4 billion total for the fiscal year, leaving the state a net $631.6 million in the black. Much of that improvement, the report said, was elimination of the federal debt to the Unemployment Compensation Funds.

The state unrestricted funds were negative $5.9 billion, representing outstanding debt. Long-term debt was $7 billion, a decrease of $326.2 million.

And combined, the General Fund and School Aid Fund had a balance of $2.6 billion, though that was a 22.5 percent decline from the prior fiscal year.

Snyder Signs M-1 Rail, Cyberbullying Bills

Governor Rick Snyder signed 21 bills Tuesday, including legislation passed late during lame duck requiring all of the state's schools to add cyberbullying to their anti-bullying policies.

SB 74 (PA 478) also requires the Department of Education to create procedures to report this information to the state.

"We've already taken great steps to confront the challenges posed by bullying in our schools," Mr. Snyder said in a statement. "It's important that we expand our focus to include the growing problem of cyberbullying to bullying policies."

Mr. Snyder also signed SB 695, SB 696 and SB 697 (Public Acts 486, 487 and 488, respectively), which add provisions ensuring the M-1 Rail project in Detroit will receive the same range of powers and legal protections that other railways receive.

Mr. Snyder also signed the following bills:

SB 492, PA 479 — KINDERGARTEN EARLY ENTRY (Caswell) Revise school code to allow eligibility for kindergarten early entry for school of choice students.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: January 13, 2015

SB 1088, PA 480 — COMMUNITY COLLEGE INVESTMENTS (Booher) Allow investment of funds in certain state and local obligations.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: January 13, 2015

SB 1142, PA 481 — FIRE DRILL STANDARDS (Jansen) Modify standards for fire drills for colleges and universities.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: March 31, 2015

HB 5035, PA 482 — COMMUNITY COLLEGE APPLICATIONS (Goike) Requires question to applicants concerning military experience of the applicant and the applicant's parents or spouse.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: April 13, 2015

HB 5036, PA 483 — COMMUNITY COLLEGES (Rendon) Allows acceptance of an American council on education transcript and clarifies transferable credits.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: April 13, 2015

HB 5669, PA 484 — TEACHER CERTIFICATION (VerHeulen) Allows non-public school teachers to use school-provided professional development hours toward certification requirements.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: January 13, 2015

HB 5806, PA 485 HIGHER EDUCATION (Pscholka) Extends term of installment contracts for energy conservation improvements allowed under statute.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: March 31, 2015

SB 1140, PA 489 PIP BENEFITS (Smith) Clarify that an excluded driver is not eligible for personal injury protection benefits and that any occupant who knows that vehicle is unlawfully taken is not eligible.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: January 13, 2015

HB 4788, PA 490 VETERAN LICENSE PLATE (Stamas) Creates fund-raising registration plate for Michigan veterans.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: March 31, 2015

HB 5045, PA 491 GOLF CARTS (Cotter) Allows use of golf carts on local streets under certain circumstances.

Signed: January 10, 2015; Effective: January 13, 2015

ACT Appealing Testing Award

ACT is asking the state's chief procurement officer to review the decision to switch to the SAT for the state's high school exams.

In a letter dated Monday, the company said the requests for proposals were changed during the bid process without the bidders being given a chance to revise their entire offers, and ACT had points deducted for offering more than the state requested in its test.

When the RFPs were first issued, the new test was to start in 2014-15, but because of legislative changes to the testing, now would start in 2015-16. While the companies were allowed to adjust their prices accordingly, ACT argued it should have been allowed to adjust its entire bid.

ACT also scored only an 80 (compared to 90 for the SAT) on the technical review because it included a writing portion in its bid.

"However, the RFP does not explicitly state the state was looking only for a base exam," the appeal letter said. "A college entrance assessment with a writing component aligns with Michigan's English Language Arts content standards, which include specific standards for Writing for Grades 6-12. ACT has been delivering this aligned assessment - The ACT with writing - to Michigan students since Spring 2007."

ACT also said the price difference between the two exams - $32.6 million for ACT versus $17.1 million for SAT - was the result of the writing component ACT included.

The Administrative Board had been set to approve the contract Tuesday, but Caleb Buhs, spokesperson for the Department of Technology, Management and Budget, said the appeal took the item off the agenda while it is reviewed.

"Now that we have received a timely protest, DTMB Procurement will review the concerns addressed in the ACT appeal letter to determine whether there is any validity," Mr. Buhs said. "The review is done by a unit within the department that was not involved in the RFP process as to provide a fair and impartial ruling. A recommendation is made to the chief procurement officer who will ultimately respond to the protester."

Dingell Urges Veto On Concealed Weapons Bill

Given her own childhood experiences with domestic violence, U.S. Rep. Debbie Dingell urged Governor Rick Snyder to veto legislation that would allow certain people with personal protection orders against them to still carry concealed weapons.

"As someone who lived as a child in an environment that could erupt violently at any point, I recognize provisions in this legislation as a serious threat to protecting Michigan women, children and communities, and quite frankly even men," Ms. Dingell said in a letter Tuesday requesting the veto of SB 789.

Ms. Dingell (D-Dearborn) said the changes provided in the legislation could put current victims of domestic violence at risk.

"Signing legislation that would allow firearms in the hands of domestic abusers is a formula for disaster that would endanger too many people in our communities," she said. "We must demonstrate zero tolerance for bullying or abuse; respect and implement processes that protect individual liberties, but use common sense to eliminate potential violence."

Manufacturers Association Releases Legislative 'Blueprint'

The Michigan Manufacturers Association on Tuesday announced its legislative agenda to keep the state more competitive.

The group released what it calls the MMA Competitiveness Plan for Michigan Manufacturing. It includes securing additional funding for manufacturing training; opposing an expansion to the renewable energy portfolio standard; ensuring competitive manufacturing tax rates; continuing the downward trend in workers' compensation costs; ending health care cost shifts on employers; among other items.

"The MMA competitiveness plan gives policymakers a blueprint for improved competitiveness in Michigan," Chuck Hadden, MMA president and CEO, said in a statement. "Tremendous progress has been made in recent years but now is the time to keep up the momentum and address the challenges that burden employers with higher costs and reduce Michigan's ability to compete in a global economy."

Another agenda item is ensuring company regulations do not exceed federal standards. It would also like to protect employers' rights as medical marijuana regulations continue to evolve.

"MMA will work to protect employer rights and to establish clarity in the application of the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act," the agenda says.

"Michigan's success relies on manufacturers to create jobs, increase investment and strengthen local communities," said Mike Johnston, MMA vice president of government affairs. "We look forward to continuing to work with the Snyder Administration, members of the Legislature, agency representatives and local leaders to build on the success of recent years."

Capital Notebook: Foster Joins PAA Firm

Former Rep. Frank Foster has joined the lobbying firm Public Affairs Associates, the firm announced Tuesday.

Mr. Foster won election to the House in 2010 and 2012, but lost a bid for a third term in 2014 when now-Rep. Lee Chatfield (R-Levering) defeated him in the Republican primary.

While in the House, Mr. Foster chaired the Commerce Committee.

PETOSKEY OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN SUSPENDED: The Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs has suspended the license to practice osteopathic medicine and surgery of Richard Ferguson based on his conviction in an Emmet County court, which follows his guilty plea to one felony count of Criminal Sexual Conduct - Assault with Intent to Commit Sexual Penetration.

He was sentenced in late October to a minimum prison term of 38 months.

CROWDFUNDING FOR YPSILANTI COMMUNITY CENTER: The Michigan Economic Development Corporation and the Friends of Ypsilanti Freighthouse on Tuesday announced a crowdfunding campaign to support the final upgrades needed to restore the historic Ypsilanti Freighthouse for use as a community center.

The building is located in the city's Depot Town neighborhood, which the MEDC said in a statement has seen "a recent surge in new businesses, restaurants and shops." The renovated facility would provide a central gathering place for public and private functions, exhibits, auctions, classes, performances and civic issues, the MEDC noted.

If the campaign attains its goal of $50,000 by March 1, 2015, the MEDC will provide a $50,000 grant. Money raised through the campaign will be used for infrastructure upgrades like a sustainable and cost-effective heating/cooling system, restrooms and new plumbing to meet city code, and a dry/wet fire suppression system for both the internal and external areas of the building.

CASINO REVENUE: All three Detroit casinos saw overall revenues fall in 2014 compared to the year prior, but business appeared to have picked up at the end of the year, with both December and fourth quarter 2014 coming in ahead of their 2013 counterparts, the Gaming Control Board announced Tuesday.

For the year, the $1.33 billion the casinos collected was down 1.2 percent from the prior year. MotorCity Casino saw the largest drop: 2.1 percent to $445 million. MGM Grand Detroit was down 1 percent to $561.1 million, and Greektown Casino was down 0.5 percent to $326.7 million.

But for December, all three were up from 2013. Greektown saw the largest gains, 12 percent to $28.4 million, followed by MGM at 11.5 percent ($50.1 million) and MotorCity at 7.6 percent ($39.6 million).

CASINO CONTRACTORS: The Gaming Control Board also approved changes Tuesday that would allow smaller non-gaming contractors for the casinos, those doing less than $400,000 in business with any one casino over a 12-month period, to be exempt from licensing. The prior threshold was $200,000.

Contractors doing less than $50,000 in business with any one casino would not even have to report to the board under the new rules effective February 1. The current threshold is $15,000.

DEPUTY APPELLATE DEFENDER: Michael Mittlestat has been appointed deputy director of the State Appellate Defender Office, succeeding Jonathan Sacks, who was appointed executive director of the Indigent Defense Commission.

Mr. Mittlestat has been assistant defender since 2005.

Bradley Hall is the new administrator of the Appellate Assigned Counsel System in the office.

CORMORANT CONTROLS: Efforts to reduce the number of double-crested cormorants in the state might be cut in the upcoming budget proposal.

Michigan United Conservation Clubs, in an email to supporters Monday, urged support for the Department of Natural Resources program, which uses a variety of tactics to reduce the number of birds migrating through and breeding in the state. Increasing numbers of the sea birds have been tied to reduced fish populations in some areas.

"The control program has been successful at protecting sportfish populations from predation," MUCC Executive Dan Eichinger said in the email. "It would be disappointing if the department eliminates this whole program, which also protects recently stocked fish from congregating cormorants."

If the department has to cut, the cormorant program could be on the chopping block, DNR spokesperson Ed Golder said. But so could any other programs.

"If we are asked to make budget reductions, we will review that and other programs to determine the most appropriate places to cut based on natural resources priorities," Mr. Golder said. "We will make a judgment about these programs after the next revenue estimating conference."

SIERRA CLUB SCORECARD: For the 2013-14 session, Republicans did not fare well on the Sierra Club Michigan Chapter's scorecard. House GOP members averaged 38 percent, while House Democrats averaged 85 percent. Senate Democrats averaged 93 percent and Republicans 27 percent.

"The 2013-2014 state Legislature was regressive when it comes to environmental protection, rolling back many of the safeguards we've had in place for decades. It's extremely frustrating that the environment has become a partisan political issue," Mike Berkowitz, the legislative director for the group, said in a statement. "Environmental protections are a no-brainer for all Michigan residents. Our members find it hard to believe that so many of our lawmakers are voting against clean air, clean water, and public health."

Rep. Martin Howrylak (R-Troy) took the top score for his caucus at 60 percent. The lowest score was 25 percent for Rep. Ray Franz (R-Onekama). In the Senate, the top GOP score was 35 percent for Sen. Tory Rocca (R-Sterling Heights) and the low score was 23 percent for Sen. Jack Brandenburg (R-Harrison Township).

Among Democrats, the top score in the Senate was 98 percent for Sen. Morris Hood III of Detroit and Sen. Rebekah Warren of Ann Arbor. Four house members - Rep. Marcia Hovey-Wright of Muskegon, Rep. Andy Schor of Lansing, Rep. Jon Switalski of Warren and Rep. Jim Townsend of Royal Oak - had perfect scores.

EDUCATION BOARD OFFICERS: John Austin (D-Ann Arbor) will lead the State Board of Education for another two years and again all of the officers are Democrats on the board they lead 6-2. The selection means three terms in leadership for Mr. Austin and Casandra Ulbrich (D-Rochester), re-elected as vice president.

The board this year also granted no leadership spots to Republicans. The treasurer post went instead to new member Pamela Pugh-Smith (D-Saginaw). Rounding out the offices, Michelle Fecteau (D-Detroit) is secretary and Lupe Ramos-Montigny (D-Grand Rapids) is the delegate to the National Association of State Boards of Education.

NURSING HOME TRANSPORTATION: Nursing facilities accepting Medicaid have to provide residents with transportation to medical appointments outside the facility, the Department of Community Health said in a letter issued Tuesday.

"Facilities must not forgo this responsibility, and residents cannot be charged for transportation cost," the letter said.

The letter indicates the requirement to provide non-emergency transportation has been in federal regulations for some time, but that some facilities have been requiring residents to arrange their own non-emergency transportation.

New experimental duck hunting opportunity in Michigan, Iowa and Wisconsin has successful first year

"The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service authorized the states of Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan to implement an early teal duck hunting season on a three-year experimental basis beginning in 2014. Teal (blue-winged and green-winged) are migratory birds managed under the authority of the USFWS in cooperation with state wildlife agencies, so decisions are made at a continental or regional level. As a result, the USFWS required the three state wildlife agencies to conduct and report the monitoring of this experimental season as a group. The first-year report is now available, and results demonstrated that hunters focused their harvest on desired teal ducks."

Zemke Appointed to Michigan Youth in Government Board

""The YMCA's Michigan Youth in Government is a wonderful program that teaches our future leaders about the workings of state government. These young Michiganders get to hone skills in communication and collaboration while developing a much deeper understanding about the legislative process. I am immensely proud to join the program on the board of directors and help educate more young people about how laws are made in their state. I am excited to see these young scholars grow into the future public servants of Michigan's bright tomorrow.""

LANSING—Legislation was introduced yesterday to remove federal Endangered Species List protections for gray wolves in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Wyoming where they have long surpassed recovery goals. After Great Lakes wolves were de-listed in 2011, they were returned to the list by a federal judge based on a technicality in the rule-making process. Michigan United Conservation Clubs, supported by a member-adopted resolution, announced its support for the legislation today as wolves in Michigan have exceeded their recovery goals for over a decade, and the most recent minimum winter population counts were more than triple the 200-wolf recovery goal in Michigan. Get Ready for the Double Tax

"Lansing, MI – As reported in today in the Michigan Capitol Confidential, analysis of the language in Proposal 1 shows that Michigan residents could be subject to a double tax if Proposal 1 is passed May 5th. Between the additional $100 million in tax increases found by the Anderson Economic Group and now this additional tax increase not recognized by the Senate Fiscal Agency before passage, the price tag for new taxes with Proposal 1 is likely to go well over $2 billion.

Lyon Grilled On Specifics Of DCH-DHS Merger

Legislators from four different committees between the House and Senate seemed less than impressed Thursday with a presentation on the planned merger of the Department of Community Health and Department of Human Services given by Director Nick Lyon, currently heading both departments.

"Bigger is not always better when it comes to government," Sen. Mike Shirkey (R-Clarklake), who sits on the Senate Appropriations DCH Subcommittee, told Mr. Lyon. "I can see the pathway, but ... right now I'm not an advocate. I'm not opposed, but I'm not an advocate."

He was joined in that sentiment by a handful of other legislators, including Sen. John Proos (R-St. Joseph), who sits on the Senate Appropriations DHS Subcommittee.

"I'm still on the bench on the river myself in finding a way to be supportive," Mr. Proos said, playing off Mr. Snyder and Mr. Lyon's theme of the "river of opportunity."

The Legislature could reject the merger with majority votes in both the House and Senate although that seems highly unlikely.

Mr. Lyon assured, "consolidating is not getting bigger," and reiterated the ultimate goal of the to-be department is consolidating services in a way that helps individuals on the path to helping themselves.

Among those priorities, Mr. Lyon said in his presentation, is to interrupt generational poverty and support families and individuals on their road to self-sufficiency; ensure the safety, well-being and permanency of the children, adults and elderly in state care; and improve the health of Michiganders in a cost-effective manner.

"The overarching goal is to be effective, efficient and accountable," Mr. Lyon said. "If we're able to align these services, then (individuals) will be much more able to succeed."

Specifically, Mr. Lyon told the Senate and House DCH and DHS subcommittees that those goals would essentially break down into a focus on children through the new Michigan Children's Agency and a focus on aging adults through the Aging Adult Services Agency.

He told the panel that he expects to measure customer service through, at least, measurements that currently exist: how people feel leaving an office, the amount of time it takes for a person to navigate the system and whether an individual felt he or she got the services necessary to be whatever it is he or she sought to become.

And he said he hopes to take a closer look at collaboration among the various food assistance programs.

"This is about ... prevention. If we can get ahead of situations, especially on the health side, this is where we can drive down health care costs," he said.

Sen. Peter MacGregor (R-Cannon Township), chair of the Senate DHS Subcommittee, gave a bit more leeway in that he agreed with the vision, goals and strategic priorities Mr. Lyon laid out, but he said he remains concerned about the process of getting there and coordinating the two departments.

"This is day 16 and I think we all need to step back and recognize that," Mr. Lyon responded to Mr. MacGregor's question about how Mr. Lyon envisioned the process. "That said, we'll have many subcommittee meetings on the budget. Hopefully we'll be able to caucus with each of you and walk through questions."

Mr. Lyon said that the reductions in the 2016 budget proposal were thought of before the executive order was made, that "the executive order cannot take credit for those savings." But concepts in the executive order make those savings possible and potentially, in the future, able to be duplicated.

On the issue of appropriations, Mr. Lyon said he expected to come back with a revised executive recommendation after April 10, when the new department is expected to be in operation. But Rep. Earl Poleski (R-Jackson), chair of the House DHS Subcommittee, reminded Mr. Lyon that April 10 falls during the legislative spring break, so, "If there's an urgency on our part, that's it."

Mr. Lyon said the biggest change he anticipated requesting in the budget is, where there are common themes, especially on administrative operations, he will be likely to consolidate those line items.

But lawmakers were apprehensive about that approach. Mr. MacGregor suggested Mr. Lyon "unroll every line possible," and Mr. Shirkey also asked for more specifics.

"I believe the initial budget proposal should include very clear line item expenses of all one-time consolidation and transition expenses," Mr. Shirkey said. "That will become a baseline for potential savings."

And Rep. Henry Yanez (D-Sterling Heights), added, "I share the same concerns my colleagues expressed about the cost and cost-savings. The idea of merging as an efficiency tool is ideal, but I have to be honest that your presentation has left me a little wanting. It seems to me the success of this merger is a lot of hopes and wishes and wants."

GOING FORWARD: Rep. Robert VerHeulen (R-Walker), chair of the House DCH Subcommittee, gave Mr. Lyon a laundry list of questions to answer, but recognizing it was still early in the process, asked for an answer in due time.

"I too want to be an advocate and supporter," he said. "If we do nothing, it's like we're whole-heartedly supporting (the executive order), but we don't have the data to do that."

Mr. Lyon, speaking to reporters after the meeting, said he remained optimistic about the process and earning the support of lawmakers.

"I'm going to keep informing the legislators. I'm going to keep talking to employees about where we are on our progress, and I'm going to reach out to the stakeholders to see what they have to say. There's many groups that represent the individuals we're serving in these programs who also need to have a voice, and that's what we're looking to do," he said. "I think we're going to be successful."

Asked why he and the administration of Governor Rick Snyder hadn't planned out more specifics, Mr. Lyon responded, "We talked about some of it before the executive order, but this is something that came about over the past few months. It's something the governor and I thought was the right thing to do, and we didn't wait to do it.

"Certainly we could've been more deliberate, but we believe it's the right thing to do and we believe in taking positive action forward quickly and decisively," he said.

Negative Supplemental Bills Head To Snyder

The Senate on Thursday sent a pair of bills balancing the state's current year budget to Governor Rick Snyder for his signature and passed a bill that would, despite some objection, use $3 million from the Autism Coverage Fund for a one-time appropriation for the current fiscal year's budget.

Sen. Hoon-Yung Hopgood (D-Taylor) again offered his amendment to HB 4110 preventing the shift of some $167 million in School Aid Fund money to fund community colleges, criticizing the Legislature and Mr. Snyder for their continual "raid" of the fund Mr. Hopgood said is to pay for K-12 operations.

"Though you can try to put your spin on it, this negative supplemental is essentially another cut to schools by Governor Snyder," Mr. Hopgood said.

The amendment was defeated even with support from Republicans Sen. Patrick Colbeck of Canton Township, Sen. Rick Jones of Grand Ledge, Sen. Tory Rocca of Sterling Heights and Sen. Dale Zorn of Ida.

Ultimately, HB 4110 passed on a 23-14 vote, with Mr. Colbeck, Mr. Jones, Mr. Rocca and Mr. Zorn joining Democrats in opposition. Sen. Coleman Young II (D-Detroit) was absent from session.

On General Orders for HB 4112, Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich (D-Flint) tried to create a $1 million emergency water fund for distressed local governments. "Flint's water supply has tested positive for contaminants numerous times, and there's been water boil advisories numerous times," Mr. Ananich explained.

But that amendment, as well as one from Sen. Vincent Gregory (D-Southfield) on Third Reading that would have restored the $5 million cut to the Graduate Medical Education program in the executive order adopted earlier this month, were defeated. Mr. Gregory's proposal did see Republican support from Mr. Colbeck, Sen. Ken Horn of Frankenmuth, Sen. Margaret O'Brien of Portage, Mr. Rocca, and Mr. Zorn, though.

And Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr. (D-East Lansing) again tried to appropriate $1 million for a statewide study to determine the cost of educating a child from kindergarten to 12th grade - an agreement made during the transportation funding talks of lame duck last term - but that also failed to win approval from the Republican-majority Senate.

Sen. David Knezek (D-Dearborn Heights) joined Republicans to support the final passage of HB 4112, while Mr. Jones and Mr. Rocca joined Democrats in opposition, leaving a final margin of 26-11.

The bills now head to Governor Rick Snyder for his signature.

AUTISM FUND: A bill (SB 137) that would allow for the one-time appropriation of an additional $3 million from the Autism Coverage Fund in fiscal year 2014-15 passed the Senate on a vote of 26-11, though not without some debate first.

Sen. Rebekah Warren (D-Ann Arbor) spoke in staunch opposition to the bill, noting that, since the inception of the fund, the state has pulled a total of $8.5 million out of it for other priorities.

"If you support this change, that will bring $8.5 million that will instead go to building the pipeline of providers instead of to these families," she told the chamber. "We need to preserve this funding."

The fund began with a $26 million appropriation, and so far $5.9 million has been spent to pay for coverage of certain autistic programs or services, and another $1 million is expected to be used.

But Sen. Dave Hildenbrand (R-Lowell), the bill sponsor, said, "There is sufficient money in the fund," and reiterated that the bill seeks a one-time, $3 million appropriation "to shore up the budget."

Mr. Colbeck and Mr. Rocca joined all Democrats except for Mr. Knezek and Sen. Virgil Smith (D-Detroit) in opposition to the bill's final passage.

Small Change Made To Proposal 1 Wording

The ballot language voters will see May 5 on the question of raising the sales tax saw one minor change Thursday prior to approval by the Board of State Canvassers.

The caption, or lead-in, to the ballot language now will say, "A proposal to amend the State Constitution to increase the sales/use tax from 6% to 7% to replace and supplement reduced revenue to the School Aid Fund and local units of government caused by the elimination of the sales/use tax on gasoline and diesel fuel for vehicles operating on public roads, and to give effect to laws that provide additional money for roads and other transportation purposes by increasing the gas tax and vehicle registration fees."

The addition is the "and supplement," which this story places in bold for emphasis.

Some critics of the language had pointed out the proposal would do much more than replace the $800 million in revenue lost as a result of removing the sales tax from gasoline. It would actually raise another $650 million in new revenue, money that would go toward schools, local governments, tax relief for the working poor and public transit.

Elections Director Chris Thomas, who has primary authority for drafting the ballot language, suggested the change.

Another difference from the original February 20 draft is that the proposal will not put the caption in capital letters. It instead will use a typical sentence case, but place the words in bold. Officials said it will be easier to read than in all capitals.

The vote was 3-1. One of the board's two Republican appointees, Norm Shinkle, voted no.

Board member Colleen Pero, a Republican, praised Mr. Thomas for a process that accepted suggestions before his first publicly released draft and then additional suggestions before his final released draft.

"A number of them have been integrated into this proposal," she said.

And board member Julie Matuzak, a Democrat, advised those in attendance requesting changes that the board has no power to write the proposal. That duty falls to Mr. Thomas as elections director.

"In my tenure on the board, I have learned we have very little power to do anything," she said.

And the board unanimously approved, as expected, designating the proposal as Proposal 15-1.

Safe Roads Yes, the group supporting the proposal, said it supports the language the board adopted.

"Regardless of the language, voters are going to clearly understand that under Proposal 1 every penny we pay in state gas taxes, under the Constitution, will have to go to transportation and taxpayers will get new road warranties and guarantees," said Roger Martin, spokesperson for Safe Roads Yes. "Those are the most important points."

The lead group opposing the proposal, the Coalition Against Higher Taxes and Special Interest Deals, will weigh its options on whether to challenge the language in court, said Scott Hagerstrom of the organization.

Mr. Hagerstrom told the board the language should say in the first bullet point that the sales tax would increase from 6 percent to 7 percent. Instead, as one of the sub-bullet points, it says the proposal would increase the sales tax to 7 percent as authorized by constitutional amendment.

He also called for the language to say the fuel tax would increase to replace the revenue lost from removing the sales tax on gasoline as well as clearly explain that nearly 40 percent of the new revenue would go for non-road purposes.

"We believe these three elements are necessary so as not to mislead voters," he said.

Former Rep. Tom McMillin, chair of another opposition group, Concerned Taxpayers of Michigan, said the language is deceptive.

"Michigan voters will not be told important aspects about what they are voting on, by looking at the ballot language for the huge sales tax hike on May 5th," he said in a statement. "No mention of the affirmative action mandate for road contracts. No mention of the boon to the big empty buses, known as mass transit. No mention that a large portion of the tax increase will go toward doubling the current welfare subsidy for low-income workers. No mention that the effect of the tax hike will mean an extra $2 billion coming out of Michigan citizens' pockets every year or $800 per year for an average Michigan family."

However, Adam DeAngeli, also of the group, said he did not anticipate it would file a legal challenge against the language.

Some activists who spoke during public comment urged the board not to act on the language Mr. Thomas recommended, saying it was impossible to describe all the effects of the proposal in the legal limit of 100 words.

Mr. Shinkle expressed interest in making some changes, but acknowledged his role on the board only was to vote yes or no on Mr. Thomas' proposal.

Mr. Thomas, speaking to reporters after the meeting, said he and his staff spent many hours on what was one of the most complex proposals for which the office has had to develop ballot language.

He said the language adopted a two-step process on the sales tax to illustrate that the Constitution sets a maximum sales tax rate of 7 percent and that a statutory change would then take effect to actually raise the rate to 7 percent.

The Constitution raises maximum sales tax, it takes legislation to actually increase it.

"The yes vote by the voter does both," he said.

Of the idea of using the caption to get into greater detail about the other 10 laws that would take effect, Mr. Thomas said, "I think that is not appropriate because the caption shouldn't really be saying things that the hundred words don't encompass."

The proposal will appear on the ballot as follows:

- Eliminate sales / use taxes on gasoline / diesel fuel for vehicles on public roads.
- Increase portion of use tax dedicated to School Aid Fund (SAF).
- Expand use of SAF to community colleges and career / technical education, and prohibit use for 4-year colleges / universities.
- Give effect to laws, including those that:
    - Increase sales / use tax to 7%, as authorized by constitutional amendment.
    - Increase gasoline / diesel fuel tax and adjust annually for inflation, increase vehicle registration fees, and dedicate revenue for roads and other transportation purposes.
    - Expand competitive bidding and warranties for road projects.
    - Increase earned income tax credit.

Should this proposal be adopted?

Bentivolio Files For Bankruptcy

Former U.S. Rep. Kerry Bentivolio has filed for Chapter 7 bankruptcy less than two months after leaving office, and his filing with the U.S. Bankruptcy Court suggests a major reason why is the $120,000 he still owes fired former campaign consultant Robert Dindoffer.

Mr. Bentivolio, a Republican from Milford best known as the Accidental Congressman, listed $269,246 in assets, $294,178 in liabilities and $8,206 in combined monthly current income with his wife. Mr. Bentivolio won his seat in a fluke, having happened to file a longshot challenge to then-U.S. Rep. Thaddeus McCotter in the Republican primary only to have the seat handed to him when Mr. McCotter got thrown off the ballot due to a petition fraud scandal.

Among the creditors are the law firm Dickinson Wright with a claim of $43,950, Mr. Bentivolio's wife with a claim of $10,000, and the Shifman and Carlson law firm with a claim of $11,000.

But the biggest claim, listed as unsecured, is to Mr. Dindoffer in the amount of $120,000. That dates to $140,000 Mr. Dindoffer said Mr. Bentivolio's campaign owed him. The Bentivolio campaign had fired Mr. Dindoffer and refused to pay him, but he took Mr. Bentivolio to court seeking payment. The two reached a settlement.

The filing indicates Mr. Bentivolio paid Mr. Dindoffer $20,000, and it shows Mr. Dindoffer attempted to have whatever assets were in Mr. Bentivolio's bank accounts garnished with little success due to lack of funds.

Mr. Dindoffer did not return a message seeking comment. He has not spoken publicly about his falling out with Mr. Bentivolio.

Mr. Bentivolio lost his bid for renomination in August to now-U.S. Rep. David Trott (R-Birmingham).

The former teacher, at one time, had a reindeer farm. Another one-time venture was hiring himself out to play Santa Claus. That business, however, appears completely defunct. In listing his assets, Mr. Bentivolio valued his Old Fashion Santa LLC at $1 with the notion that it was "believed worthless."

Mr. Bentivolio receives $1,222 a month in disability payments and another $1,448 a month from his U.S. Army pension. He indicates in his bankruptcy that he has filed for unemployment benefits.

While a member of the U.S. House, Mr. Bentivolio said he would only support continuing long-term emergency unemployment benefits if those benefits were reduced.

Mr. Bentivolio's wife has $5,535 in monthly take-home income, the filing says.

The filing says the couple's monthly expenses are $7,908, leaving them with a net monthly income of $298.

Corrections Could Consider New Drug Formulary

Based on suggestions at Thursday's House Appropriations Corrections Subcommittee meeting, the Department of Corrections could consider changes to its pharmaceutical formulary to provide more continuity for inmates being released.

In a presentation on corrections health care, department officials said they had found some savings by adopting a formulary and making some changes in the way medications are purchased.

"The majority of the conditions can be treated with our formulary medications," Gary Kerstein, chief medical officer for the department, said.

And he said keeping medication costs down is important to the department's budget. "About half our prisoners are on some sort of prescription medication," Mr. Kerstein said.

For instance, the department is now purchasing larger containers of insulin and sharing those among inmates rather than purchasing a separate vial for each who needs it.

The department is also working to have every inmate, on release, enrolled in Medicaid, Joanne Sheldon, health services administrator for the department, said. That ensures they continue to have access to health care once they leave prison, she said.

Rep. Edward Canfield (R-Sebewaing) agreed that would provide some continuity but, particularly for those on psychotropic drugs, could mean medication changes if what they were taking is not on the formulary for the Medicaid HMO with which they enroll.

"It would seem to make sense to me if we went to a single formulary statewide," he said.

Mr. Kerstein said it was a "fantastic idea" and would look into it.

Another area where the department has cut costs is in regular dental treatment, Ms. Sheldon said. Following the lead of a number of other states, the prisons are only providing regular dental care to those who are incarcerated at least 24 consecutive months, she said.

The move has cut costs and waiting time for those needing services, she said.

Inmates are still given dental exams when they first arrive and every year, and are treated for any emergency needs, like cavities.

But Ms. Sheldon said she is trying to move the department's efforts on overall health care from treatment to preventative care.

"Our delivery system is a little bit too reactive," she said.

She is also working to better join mental and physical health.

"The healthier we can have them, both physically and mental health wise, when they leave, the healthier our communities are," she said.

The department has also been working on ways to address elderly inmates (those older than age 50), Ms. Sheldon said. For most, the goal is to consolidate them based on health care and other needs, she said. "It's better for them and better for us cost wise to have them more centralized," she said.

Kyle Kaminski, legislative liaison for the department, said a request for information on a hospice service attracted 16 providers to discuss options. The block right now, he said, is truth in sentencing.

"The challenge is, how do you legally move somebody who, under truth in sentencing, is supposed to be kept in a secure setting to something that is not that?" he said.

Several members also questioned whether diet could be affecting inmate health.

"The amount of money we spend on food is relatively small," Rep. Jeff Irwin (D-Ann Arbor) said. "If we were to spend a little bit more, could we save over here where the costs are substantial?"

And Rep. Henry Yanez (D-Sterling Heights) questioned how many of the chronic illnesses like cardiovascular disease are pre-existing when inmates come to prison and how many are partly a result of diet.

Ms. Sheldon acknowledged the department needed to continue improving inmate health education, including on nutrition. But she said nutritionists in the department ensure that inmates are receiving balanced meals with proper calorie counts given their activity levels.

"There's been a concerted effort to manage the caloric intake of the inmates," Mr. Kerstein said.

And he said habits from the outside, particularly tobacco and illegal drug use, play a larger role in inmate health.

House Drops BB, Air Guns From Firearm Definition

Pellet and BB guns would no longer be considered firearms under legislation that passed the House on bipartisan votes Thursday.

Despite arguments that some of the pellet air rifles can be deadly and the bills would open the door for some felons to use a weapon and not be charged with it, the package (HB 4151, HB 4152, HB 4153, HB 4154, HB 4155 and HB 4156) moved with fairly broad support.

The closest vote, 80-29, was for HB 4151, which eliminates the prohibition on children possessing air rifles and BB guns, as well as the misdemeanor penalty attached.

Rep. Jeff Irwin (D-Ann Arbor) said the bills, by changing the definition of firearm, essentially open air rifles and BB guns to be used in crimes without further penalty.

"With casual observation, this bill seems to make sense," he said. "We didn't do anything to clean up all the problems this creates."

Under current law, he said, someone committing a robbery with a BB gun would face felony firearm charges. If the package is enacted, he said, those charges would not be available.

But Rep. Triston Cole (R-Mancelona), sponsor of HB 4155, said the change was necessary, as "Michigan has an overly broad definition of firearm," he said on the House floor.

"Pneumatic guns are not lethal weapons being used for hunting or self-protection," Rep. Jason Sheppard (R-Temperance), sponsor of HB 4152, said in a statement. "There's no reason that we should categorize them as such."

"Michigan has a patchwork of bills that define firearms in different ways, and that caused confusion and, at times, arrests of people who did not think they possessed a firearm," Rep. Tom Barrett (R-Potterville), sponsor of HB 4156, said in a statement. "Because of this lack of clarity, some inexpensive, non-lethal, air-powered devices qualify as firearms under current Michigan statute. Words have specific meaning, and we need to align our laws with a common-sense understanding of what a firearm means."

There was more support for HB 4155, passed 88-21, and HB 4156, passed 89-20, both of which would prohibit use of air rifles, BB guns and paint guns as weapons used against a person. They would still not be considered firearms under the bills.

Only HB 4154 would add the guns back into the definition of firearm. While the bill would insert the new definition of firearm under the wildlife conservation and hunting license sections, but it would consider a pneumatic gun a firearm. The bill also eliminates the prohibition on discharging a firearm within 150 years of a dwelling, instead prohibiting only hunting that close.

'Choose Life' License Bill Gets Hearing

The Department of State would be required to develop and issue a fund-raising license plate benefitting the Choose Life Michigan Fund under legislation discussed by the Senate Transportation Committee on Thursday.

According to a Senate Fiscal Agency analysis, the bill, SB 84, would require the Department of State to pay the $15,000 start-up fee from the Choose Life Fund proposed in the bill. The revenue generated from the fund-raising license plate would be deposited into the fund, after which the state treasurer would disburse payments from the fund yearly to the Choose Life Michigan Fund.

Sen. Tom Casperson (R-Escanaba), chair of the committee, said the issue of abortion intensely divides the public and pressed Sen. Patrick Colbeck (R-Canton Township), the bill sponsor, on the logistics of who exactly would get the money.

"It's done on a grant basis," Mr. Colbeck responded, noting that Treasury would make disbursements from the fund.

The bill specifies that money would go to eligible nonprofit organizations for projects that promote alternatives to abortion. "Eligible nonprofit organizations" include, but are not limited to, crisis pregnancy centers, homes for pregnant women and other organization that provide practical support to pregnant women, practical outreach to at-risk populations and promote life-saving programs and projects as an alternative to abortion.

"We believe that's very important to help those women who are in adverse circumstances," Mr. Colbeck said.

"Projects that promote alternatives to abortion" include, but are not limited to, media campaigns; specialty outreaches to at-risk populations, including minorities, teenagers, college-aged women and post-abortive women; and campaigns to promote adoptions.

Mr. Casperson questioned whether a group that both supported the right to an abortion but provided services to women who do not have an abortion would be among those that could seek money from the fund. "There was no one there opposing (the bill). I thought in fairness, we should have that discussion," he later told Gongwer News Service.

To that question, Mr. Colbeck later explained that there must be context to the grant application in question. "How you frame that application for those funds will be evaluated against the requirements in the bill," he said.

The Department of State testified as neutral on the bill, seeking some technical changes first. Mr. Colbeck said those are largely centered around timing issues.

"They want to try to do the license plates at the same time every year so they only have one person doing the data entry," he said, "Which we're fine with."

Among the organizations that could stand to benefit from the bill is Right to Life of Michigan, officials from which testified in support of the legislation.

"We support 95 pro-life centers that provide services to women," said Ed Rivet, legislative director for the group. "We look forward to our membership and pro-life citizens across the state who would be happy and willing to provide that generosity and support (to buy a plate)."

Mr. Casperson said he expects to vote the bill out next week.

DNR Issues First Invasive Species Grants

The Department of Natural Resources announced $4 million in grants for 20 projects to defend against or control invasive species through the Michigan Invasive Species Grant Program, part of Governor Rick Snyder's efforts to combat invasive species.

The largest of the grants, $393,900, went to the Ottawa Conservation District and West Michigan Cooperative Invasive Species Management Area, for planning efforts in Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Muskegon, Kent, Montcalm, Ottawa and Allegan counties. Central Michigan University received $391,700 for efforts in Kalamazoo, Barry, Allegan, Ionia, Alpena, Livingston, Wayne, Bay, Cass and Van Buren counties.

"These grants will fund crucial work in battling invasive species, which pose a significant threat to Michigan's world-class natural resources," DNR Director Keith Creagh said in a statement. "State agencies can't undertake this effort alone. Partnerships are vital to keeping our waters, woods and coasts thriving as healthy ecosystems, while at the same time providing the economic and recreational benefits that citizens expect from their outdoor experiences."

Capital Notebook

ENVIRONMENTAL SCORECARD: The Michigan League of Conservation Voters released the scores for the Michigan congressional delegation on the national association's annual scorecard. As has been typical in recent years, there was a broad gap between Republicans and Democrats.

The top score, 97, was shared by U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee (D-Flint) and U.S. Rep. Sander Levin (D-Royal Oak). Former U.S. Sen. Carl Levin (D-Detroit) and U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow (D-Lansing) both scored 80.

At the other end, U.S. Rep. Tim Walberg (R-Tipton) scored a 0, followed closely by former U.S. Rep. Kerry Bentivolio (R-Milford) and U.S. Rep. Bill Huizenga (R-Zeeland), who each scored a 3.

"Despite a year marred by extreme weather events and harmful algal blooms in our Great Lakes, much of Michigan's House delegation failed to respond to the impacts of climate change earning an average score of just 37 percent," Michigan LCV Executive Director Lisa Wozniak said. "With conservation leaders like Congressman Dingell and Senator Levin no longer serving us in Washington, it is critical that land, air and water issues remain a priority among our representatives in Congress."

FOIA EXPANSION: The Legislature and the Executive Office would be covered by the Freedom of Information Act under legislation proposed by Rep. Brandon Dillon (D-Grand Rapids).

Current law allows the governor and legislators to choose what documents they will release. The Constitution does require them to release financial information.

"It's unreasonable and unethical that lawmakers and the governor are allowed to exempt themselves from the very same Freedom of Information Act law that they expect every other government worker to comply with," Mr. Dillon said. "It's a matter of basic fairness and accountability that as legislators and leaders, we hold ourselves to the same standard we expect of others. The people of Michigan deserve a fair and transparent government that works for them."

He said Massachusetts is the only other state to exempt those two entities from FOIA.

LIFE AT CONCEPTION: Rep. Cindy Gamrat (R-Plainwell) will be introducing legislation Tuesday to designate conception as the point at which a person is legally a person.

The goal of the legislation, introduced at least once during each of the past several sessions, is to ban abortion by granting legal rights to the fetus.

"Our nation was founded on the precepts of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; life is inherently precious and at the core of all liberty," Ms. Gamrat said in a statement. "Our state should lead the way in declaring that each person has inherent value and worth and that we will protect the lives of the most innocent and vulnerable among us."

The bill, expected to be HB 4279, would provide exceptions where the mother's life is threatened by the pregnancy.

UNIVERSITY PERFORMANCE: Michigan's 15 public universities are among the best in the nation in graduating students and controlling costs, Business Leaders for Michigan said on releasing a study of metrics.

Among the highlights of the study, 12 institutions bettered the national average and eight were in the top 20 percent for critical skills degrees. Ten were above average (seven in the top 20 percent) for total degrees conferred.

The state ranked 6th overall for number of degrees and 5th for critical skill degrees, the report said.

At the same time, all 15 universities increased the number of students receiving federal Pell grants and nine reduced administrative costs as a percentage of their budgets.

"These outcomes are crucial to the state's future prosperity," Doug Rothwell, BLM president and CEO, said. "We know the jobs of tomorrow are going to require workers with more education. It's also true that people with knowledge and training beyond high school are more likely to be employed, and stand to earn up to twice as much as those without it. These earnings differences are too significant to be ignored-Michigan needs high-quality, high-value institutions of higher learning if we're going to stay on track to economic growth."

Appointments By The Governor

GAMING CONTROL BOARD: Bob Anthony of Northville is reappointed for a term expiring December 31, 2018. The appointment is subject to Senate advice and consent.

Crash barrier installation to affect ramps on M-10 (Lodge Freeway) and I-75 service drive in Wayne County

COUNTY: Wayne HIGHWAY: Northbound M-10 ramp to westbound M-8 Northbound I-75 ramp to westbound M-102 (8 Mile Road) CLOSEST CITIES: Highland Park and Detroit START DATE: Wednesday, April 8, 2015 ESTIMATED END DATE: Late Spring 2015 PROJECT DETAILS: The Michigan Department of Transportation is investing nearly $200,000 to install crash attenuators, which are a type of cushion barriers, in two locations. The barriers are used to protect drivers and reduce damage to vehicles involved in a crash. The current barriers have reached the end of their service life and need to be replaced. The new type of barriers will reduce the need for frequent maintenance and replacement. The first barrier installation will be on the northbound M-10 (Lodge Freeway) ramp to westbound M-8 (Davison Avenue), which will require closing the ramp for approximately three weeks.

The second barrier installation will be on the northbound I-75 service drive to westbound M-102 (8 Mile Road) and is expected to begin in late April or early May. TRAFFIC IMPACT: Beginning Tuesday, April 7, the northbound M-10 (Lodge Freeway) ramp to westbound M-8 (Davison Avenue) will be closed. The posted detour includes northbound M-10 (Lodge Freeway) to eastbound M-8 (Davison Avenue), then the turnaround east of M-1 (Woodward Avenue) and back to westbound M-8.

During work on the northbound I-75 service drive to westbound M-102 (8 Mile Road), traffic will be detoured via the northbound I-75 service drive to eastbound M-102 (8 Mile Road), then left onto the westbound M-102 (8 Mile Road).

Remember to leave wildlife in the wild

"With the arrival of spring, wild animals are giving birth and hatching the next generation of Michigan's wildlife. Baby red foxes appeared in dens during the last days of March and the first days of April. Young great-horned owls have already hatched and are growing up in stick nests high above the ground. Mourning doves have made nests, and some have already laid eggs. The first litters of cottontails will appear soon.

ACLU of Michigan Executive Director calls for federal investigation into shooting of Detroit man

"Kary Moss, Executive Director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan, gave the following statement in reaction to the shooting death of 20-year-old Terrance Kellom by a federal immigration agent in Detroit yesterday: "The death of Terrance Kellom is tragic and should be immediately investigated by federal authorities. The use of excessive force by police—and the resulting tragedies that citizens experience, especially in communities of color, as a result of their interactions with law enforcement—are endemic across this country and must stop. The first step in interrupting this cycle must be urgent reforms in how police and communities interact and the de-militarization of police departments across the state. Federal authorities also need to begin questioning the role of ICE in routine criminal investigations and whether these agents are properly trained to fill this role without unnecessarily endangering the public.""

DTE: Regulated electric market best for Michigan

"In regards to The Detroit News' April 17 editorial, "Don't flip switch on electric choice," The News correctly points out that the generation and distribution of electricity carries a unique set of needs. We believe that fully regulating Michigan's electric market is the best way to address those needs and to ensure a reliable and affordable energy future for our state."

MCFN comment on Yulee

"Today's decision by the Supreme Court of the United States in Williams-Yulee v. Florida Bar, which upheld Florida's Canons of Judicial Conduct in prohibiting judges from directly soliciting contributions for their election campaigns, is a victory for states, including Michigan, that elect judges and employ the same judicial canon. The court's decision recognized that states do have a compelling interest in seeking to protect public trust and confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the judiciary, and that public trust and confidence is undermined if a judicial candidate directly solicits favors from lawyers or litigants. John Q. Public gets a measure of reassurance in knowing that he won't find himself in a courtroom before a judge who directly solicited, and received, a check from the opposing party in his court case."

Michigan Legislators Introduce Bills to Modernize Anti-Discrimination Law

"LANSING – Earlier today, legislators in the Michigan's Senate and House of Representatives introduced an update to the 1976 Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act (ELCRA) that will protect Michiganders from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity. Polls show that voters in Michigan overwhelmingly support the effort, and numerous business and religious leaders have called for the updates. If signed into law, the update would place LGBTQ Michiganders under the same protections of the ELCRA that already exist for Michiganders on the basis of religion, race, color, national origin, age, sex, height, weight or marital status. Finish work on grading teachers

Michigan continues to lag the nation in the performance of its students. And since teachers play the biggest role in determining how well their students do, one of the tools to boost these results is a strong teacher evaluation program. The Legislature has worked on evaluations for four years, and now it should finish the task.

Michigan to Provide Universal Access to PSAT 8/9 and PSAT 10 to Support College Readiness for Studen

"LANSING, Mich. — The Michigan Department of Education (MDE) and the College Board continue to work closely to ensure a seamless transition to the 2016 statewide administration of the SAT® as part of the Michigan Merit Examination. In addition to preparing for the statewide SAT administration, starting next spring, the state will provide free access to the PSAT™ 8/9 to ninth-grade students and the PSAT™ 10 to 10th-grade students. The skills and knowledge measured by these assessments are the same as those measured by the SAT, so students and educators can monitor progress and identify areas in need of improvement. In addition, PSAT-related assessment results are the best predictor of a student's likelihood to succeed in certain AP® courses. Students who take the PSAT 10 will have access to more than $180 million in expanded scholarship opportunities."

Other views: Writers on racism, presidential contenders

"America's not that racist Greg Jones, writing for The Federalist: It's called "proof by example," and it happens all the time. We take one event and point to it as evidence of a trend or, even worse, a universal fact—a dog attacked my child, therefore all dogs are vicious and should be put down. Despite its popularity, particularly in political debate, proof by example is a logical fallacy. But logic is officially an endangered species in today's hyperpartisan political environment."

2016 candidates undermine the political hometown

"It's been 20 years since Bob Dole ran for president as the small town boy who never forgot his roots in windblown Russell, Kan., where he worked in high school as a drugstore soda jerk and recovered from his wounds after World War II. Even after he went to Congress, he never changed his legal residence."

8. Administrative Lapse Savings
The Senate includes savings of $340,000 GF/GP from 7 administrative line items throughout the budget, based on FY 2013-14 year-end lapsed amounts. The Conference does not concur.	Gross	NA	$0
	GF/GP	NA	$0
BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SERVICES
9. Mental Health and Wellness Commission	FTE	0.0	1.0
The Executive provides $5.0 million Gross ($1.9 million GF/GP) and 1.0 FTE for a 12-bed psychiatric residential treatment facility and a children's behavioral action team with an emphasis on children residing at Hawthorn Center; provides $1.5 million GF/GP designated as one-time basis only to coordinate child trauma response and to partially offset reductions from Executive Order 2015-5; and removes $6.1 million Gross ($2.1 million GF/GP) designated as one-time basis funding appropriated in FY 2014-15. The House concurs and reduces funding for 12-bed psychiatric residential treatment facility and children's behavioral action team to $2.7 million Gross ($1.0 million GF/GP), requiring a roughly 6-month delay in implementation. The Senate reduces funding for 12-bed psychiatric residential treatment facility and children's behavioral action team to $1.25 million Gross ($469,000 GF/GP), requiring a 9-month delay in implementation, and reduces one-time funding to a $100 GF/GP placeholder. Finally, the Senate removes $13.8 million Gross ($4.7 million GF/GP), equal to 50% of remaining funding, based on the assumption those initiatives could be funded by the Michigan Health Endowment Fund, which is funded by statutorily-required contributions from Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan. The Conference concurs with the Executive and reduces funding for 12-bed psychiatric residential treatment facility and children's behavioral action team to $1.25 million Gross ($469,000 GF/GP), requiring a 9-month delay in implementation.	Gross	$33,625,000	($3,312,500)
	Federal	22,205,000	(3,181,500)
	GF/GP	$11,420,000	($131,000)
10. Mental Health Jail Diversion and Transition	FTE	1.0	0.0
The Executive restores an Executive Order 2015-5 reduction of $300,000 GF/GP and transfers in $1.0 million GF/GP from Department of Corrections for jail diversion and transition programming. The House concurs. The Senate concurs with restoration of the Executive Order reduction but does not include the $1.0 million GF/GP transfer from Department of Corrections. The Conference concurs with House.	Gross	$3,050,000	$1,300,000
	GF/GP	$3,050,000	$1,300,000
11. Community Mental Health (CMH) Non-Medicaid Services	Gross	$117,050,400	$0
The Executive replaces $20.0 million in one-time Roads and Risks Reserve funds with an equal amount of GF/GP to maintain annual CMH Non-Medicaid funding at $117.1 million. The $20.0 million in one-time Roads and Risks Reserve funds was included in the current year supplemental, HB 4112. The House, Senate, and Conference concur.	Restricted	20,000,000	(20,000,000)
	GF/GP	$97,050,400	$20,000,000
12. Community Mental Health (CMH) Purchase of State Services	Gross	$278,931,200	($139,465,600)
The Executive eliminates the transfer of GF/GP to local Community Mental Health Services Programs (CMHSP) for the purchase of state services, reducing the corresponding $139.5 million in local revenue appropriated for state psychiatric hospitals. The GF/GP currently appropriated for CMHSP purchase of state services is instead directly appropriated to support the state psychiatric hospitals. The House, Senate, and Conference concur.	Local	139,465,600	(139,465,600)
	GF/GP	$139,465,600	$0
13. Liquor License Fee Increases	Gross	$1,784,200	$0
The Executive authorizes $913,200 in restricted funds to support fetal alcohol syndrome disorders. Restricted funds would be available through Executive proposal for increased liquor fees, which have a statutory requirement for 3.5% of license fees to be used for prevention, rehabilitation, care, and treatment of alcoholics and 15% of the fee charged for the issuance of licenses to sell spirits or mixed spirit drinks on Sunday to be used for the treatment of alcoholics. Remaining liquor license fee revenue appropriated in Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA) budget. The House concurs. The Senate and Conference do not include the additional restricted fund authorization.	Restricted	1,784,200	0

Advocacy/Opinion

Nuclear energy offers benefits to Michigan

"All of us from Michigan are used to frigid winters and scorching summers. These temperature extremes underscore the need to keep the lights, air conditioning, and heat on and running reliably. Every time you flip a switch, turn a dial, or plug into an outlet, electricity is there when you need it — something many seem to take for granted. What we should not take for granted, however, is the vital role that our nuclear power plants play in making the electricity we use each and every day, and more broadly, the role that the generation of nuclear power plays in our state's economy and environment. This is especially true in light of the Environmental Protection Agency's recently announced Clean Power Plan to reduce carbon dioxide emissions from existing generating sources across the country."

Emails Show Shaky Grounds for Corporate Welfare Agency's Transparency Shutdown

"The official story from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation — the state's corporate welfare arm — is that its 2009 decision to stop disclosing how much money particular companies collect in tax breaks (and cash subsidies styled as tax credits) was based on informal verbal advice solicited from the attorney general's office. However, contemporary email records reveal that an even greater degree of ambiguity surrounded the agency's leap away from transparency."

ACLU Statement on Appointment of Bush Administration Attorney to Michigan Supreme Court

"DETROIT – In a press conference today, Governor Rick Snyder officially announced his appointment of University of Michigan legal professor Joan Larsen to the Michigan Supreme Court. From January 2002 through May 2003, Larsen served as deputy assistant U.S. attorney general in the Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel. During her tenure, the OLC weakened the rule of law by issuing several legal opinions authorizing torture, indefinite detention, warrantless wiretapping, and other abuses of power. While it's unclear the general role Larsen played in crafting policies, the ACLU has learned through ongoing litigation that Larsen co-authored a secret memo in March 2002 regarding detainees' right to habeas corpus, the constitutional right to challenge one's detention in a court of law."

City Manager: 'Prosperity Doesn't Come From Government; It Comes From Freedom'

"When cities cry poverty, the organization helping them pursue more resources from state or local taxpayers is often the Michigan Municipal League. It is interesting then to see signs that the lobbying group

Statement from Rep. Phelps on his denied FOIA requests pertaining to the City of Flint water crisis

""Residents of the City of Flint face a substantial health risk due to contaminants found in their drinking water. In an effort to not politicize this situation, I have been working directly with state and local officials in seeking important information and attempting to correct the City's water crisis. Unfortunately, I have been faced with continual road blocks in my requests for information. It has been nearly a month since I submitted Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests to the State and the City of Flint requesting to see documents related to the City's switch to using water from the Flint River. I requested the applications and permits required by law to change a city's source of water. So far, the State Treasury has violated FOIA by not providing any information or even a denial. The Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and City of Flint have denied my request saying that the documents I requested do not exist. However, state law requires Michigan cities to apply for a permit from the DEQ to switch their source of water. Violation of this law is punishable by a fine of $5,000 per day and possible incarceration. I find it hard to believe that the DEQ and the City of Flint ignored such a critical step, not to mention one that the cost in fines alone would already be roughly $2.5 million and cause those responsible to be subject to criminal prosecution."

Advocacy/Opinion

Letter: Stakes high for patent reform

"If current trends continue, as many as 1 of every 3 American adults could have diabetes by 2050. That's up from an already staggering 1 in 10 adults today. But the future of innovation leading to the development of new medicines for diabetes and other illnesses is under threat. "

This week on MIRS Monday

If the same municipal water problems Flint residents are experiencing were happening in West Bloomfield or Birmingham would they have been taken care of long ago? Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich answers that question and shares his thoughts that he's getting the feeling from the state that, "These are poor folks, well, we'll get to it when we get to it."

MIRS Editor Kyle Melinn shares his takeaways from Friday's Lapeer Tea Party debate of 82nd House District candidates, the Michigan Freedom Fund hits Rep. Alberta Tinsley-Talabi and how is an empty bowl of stew analogous to the state's road funding talks? This and much more in this week's edition.

Moore: Anti-sanctuary bill wrong for Detroit

"The Detroit Police Department has a lot of work on its hands, and this has been the case for many years. A bill in the Michigan Senate, termed the "sanctuary policy prohibition act" would only make matters worse for Detroit. It would strip the Police Department of discretion in terms of how or when to assist the federal government in enforcing immigration law, adding to its overwhelming duty of enforcing state criminal law by adding federal civil law as well."

Rep. Forlini: 'Michigan penalty' harms taxpayers

"While our state has made significant progress toward restoring its fiscal health, taxpayers across Michigan continue to pay inflated interest rates on voter-approved bonds. These bonds — referred to as "unlimited tax general obligation bonds" — are used to build schools, pave roadways and repair bridges, and prior to the Detroit bankruptcy case, were considered among the safest investments around."

McBroom: Courser, Gamrat expulsions warranted

"The Michigan Constitution, voted on by the people of Michigan, lays out a specific method for protecting the integrity of the Legislature. The House of Representatives' ability to determine its members' qualifications and expel them when necessary is an important check and balance to the possibility of corrupt, deceptive or unqualified members. Such a safety valve is also provided in the federal Constitution and in other states' constitutions."

Try again, try harder to get FCA deal for UAW

"The loud voices of FCA Automobiles UAW members have got to be heard — by the union's leadership, which failed to sell a contract that had many spoils but failed to address some key concerns, and by the company's management, which should be fearful that the current trajectory winds up in a devastating strike."

To: Budget 6th Floor Staff
Subject: Legislative Update 10/6
Attachments: Legislation with Negative $ Impact.docx

Good afternoon,

Sorry for the delay in getting this out. I wanted to update the attached document before sending, so a couple items in the committee section already took place today. Here are some highlights of what's happening in the House and Senate this week:

Session this Week: The House and Senate will hold session Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

School Aid Supplemental: The House and Senate completed work on SB 134 (Pscholka) last week, and the Governor is expected to sign the bill this week.

FY 15 Supplemental (HB 4102)Pscholka: The Senate passed the bill by a 30-5 vote on Thursday, October 1 and added two amendments:

- $100 placeholder intended to continue discussions on the Flint water crisis
- $100 placeholder for potential funding to pay off the county portion of bonds related to the now-vacated DHHS Alger County lease

I expect discussions on both of these issues to continue this week, with potential House floor action likely held off until next week (Oct. 13-15)

- FY 17 Legislator Outreach: John and I have individual FY 17 budget outreach meetings with 8 members of the appropriations committees this week: Reps. McCready, Poleski, Santana, and VerHeulen and Sens. Green, Hertel, MacGregor and Schuitmaker.

Legislation That Costs $: I attempt to maintain a list of bills getting some degree of traction in the Legislature that have a direct appropriation or a negative revenue impact. Just looking at the committee agendas for House Tax Policy, Senate Finance, and full sessions this week, I've added a number of bills to the list. Attached is what I've compiled. Please let me know if you're aware of any others.

Committee Meetings:

- New committee meeting notices are still being posted.
- House Appropriations Committee will be meeting on Wednesday at 9:00 a.m. and will likely vote to report SB 22 (H-2) This is the supplemental payment enhancement for low-income MSP troopers who retired before October 1, 1986. The H-2 version reflects and agreement we reached with Sen. Nofs on the issue. Senate Appropriations Committee will likely not meet this week.
- House State Police Subcommittee: Holding a joint meeting with the House Communications and Technology Committee on First Net. This hearing was today at Noon.
- House School Aid Subcommittee: Hearing on pupil membership counting was today at 10:30 a.m.
- Senate School Aid Subcommittee: MDE will be presenting on the GSRP formula. There will also be a presentation on the Early Learning Neighborhood Collaborative. This meeting is Wednesday at 8:30 a.m.

- House LARA and General Government subcommittees: There will be a joint hearing on Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. on the UIA claims process.

Road Funding: Discussions still ongoing.

Legislation to Watch: If you're aware of any others that pop up, please let me know:

- SB 22 (Nofs) Retirement enhancement for troopers retired before 1986. FY 16 target agreement holds $400,000 in reserve. SB 22 now scaled back to provide a boost to 96 retirees whose pensions are below $16,000—to $16,000. SB 22 is in House Appropriations. We have agreement with Sen. Nofs on an alternative supplemental payment instead of direct pension enhancement. House likely to take up the bill this fall.
- SB 218 (Schmidt)—Fallen officer survivor benefits. Some legislators are looking at ways an individual policy can be purchased instead of adding to the state system, and ORS is working on a prefunding estimate. This bill could move at some point before the end of the year. The House Fiscal Agency estimates this cost at $59,000 in the first year, growing to over $700,000 annually after ten years.
- SB 343 (Schuitmaker) University MPSERS rate cap legislation. Currently in House Appropriations, and the committee is hoping to take the bill up on Wednesday, October 7. We are currently trying to determine whether amendments are needed to reconcile an issue related to state universities overpaying into the MSPERS system.
- SB 388-390 (Casperson, Kowall, Robertson) Local unfunded mandates. These bills could still see action this fall, but it sounds like things might be slowing down a bit. Will keep everyone posted.
- HB 4338 (Forlini) Allows school districts to contract with an alternative provider for DC plans. ORS is awaiting feedback and data from one of the financial advisor groups that is advocating for this legislation.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you hear of anything that might be helpful for me to know. Have a great week!

Pine Rest President: Huizenga Leading On Mental Health Reform

"While national in scope, the bill would support local West Michigan solutions to problems that are unique to West Michigan — problems that decrease our quality of life, and create unnecessary health care costs and present challenges in our workplaces. Congressman Bill Huizenga, R-Michigan, understands these local issues and is helping champion comprehensive mental health reform on the national level. Rep. Huizenga recently became a co-sponsor to the Helping Families in Mental Health Crisis Act and is diligently working to make sure the local, West Michigan perspective is shared and helps inform national policy reform. Passage of the act will reduce the number of headlines we see linking mental illness to tragic events, and will increase the headlines describing breakthroughs of care, access and innovations, and improved quality of life in West Michigan. Let's support our national legislators who are working hard to find consensus around common-sense solutions to this fixable problem of inadequate access to quality behavioral health services."

Study: 13 Michigan Corporations Had a Total of $54 Billion in Untaxed Profits Stashed Offshore in 20

"MICHIGAN – Tax loopholes encouraged 13 Michigan Fortune 500 companies – including Dow Chemical, General Motors, Stryker, Whirlpool, Ford Motors and Kellogg – to maintain a total of $54 billion in profits offshore in 2014, much of the money in tax havens, according to a report released today by Engage Michigan and Michigan Citizen Action. These 13 companies had a total of 304 subsidiaries in offshore tax havens last year. The corporations are most likely paying a tax rate on these profits of no more than 6 percent in these tax havens and are able to dodge paying any U.S. taxes on these profits until they are brought back to the United States, which may never happen."

Michigan Legislators Introduce Youth Justice Reforms

"Lansing - A bipartisan group of Michigan legislators introduced a package of bills Tuesday to keep 17 year old offenders from automatically going into the adult corrections system. In the past decade, more than 20,000 youths under the age of 18 have been sentenced as adults in Michigan. Most were convicted for nonviolent offenses and had no prior juvenile record. The proposed legislation was introduced in conjunction with the Michigan Council on Crime and Delinquency (MCCD)."

Representative Stephanie Chang on piles of 'coke breeze' along the Detroit River

""I am asking the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to investigate piles of 'coke breeze,' a byproduct from the manufacturing of blast furnace coke, at the Waterfront Petroleum Terminal Co. property on West Jefferson. It is my understanding that 'coke breeze' is made up of finer particles than petroleum coke (pet coke). I am concerned and would like to know if 'coke breeze' could be more likely to travel in the air and if it could harm people if ingested into their lungs. What are the potential health impacts if 'coke breeze' is ingested? I hope that MDEQ will agree to investigate this and take the appropriate actions if it is discovered that 'coke breeze' is a health hazard.""

Divorce and Child Custody Issues for Same-Sex Couples

"HOUSTON, TX (October 9, 2015) - On June 24 of this year, the Supreme Court ruled that the Constitution guarantees a right to same-sex marriage. This was a long-sought victory for gay rights activists and there were celebrations across the country. However, one unforeseen bi-product of gay marriage rights is now coming to the forefront: divorce and custody battles in same-sex couples."

Subject: Legislative Update 10/12

Good afternoon,

Here are some highlights of what's happening in the House and Senate this week:

Session this Week: Both the House and Senate will hold session Tuesday through Thursday.

School Aid Supplemental: The Governor has signed SB 134 without vetoes, and it is now PA 139 of 2015.

FY 15 Supplemental (HB 4102): The Senate passed the bill by a 30-5 vote on October 1, and we now hope for House action sometime this week. We should know more about where things stand with the bill, and the supplemental request for Flint, sometime tomorrow.

FY 17 Legislator Outreach: After 8 meetings with individual legislators last week, John and I have only one this week. We meet with Rep. Nancy Jenkins (Chair, Capital Outlay, Chair MDARD) on Tuesday.

Committee Meeting Highlights:

- New committee meeting notices are still being posted.
- House Appropriations Committee will be meeting on Wednesday at 9:00 a.m. to take up HB 4783 (Pscholka), which increases landfill fines. This bill was up for a hearing a few weeks ago, and I'm trying to determine whether the committee plans to report or just take additional testimony. The committee will also hear a presentation from DNR Director Keith Creigh on hunting and fishing license fee changes.
- Senate Appropriations is meeting at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday to take up SCR 14 (McCready), the secondary road patrol MOE resolution, while also having discussion on boilerplate report benchmarks of new programs funded about $500,000 in the FY 15 budget:
  - Making Michigan a No-Wait State for Senior Home-Delivered Meals and In-Home Services - (Department of Health and Human Services)
  - The Child Welfare Performance-Based Funding - (Department of Health and Human Services)
  - The School Safety Hotline (OK2Say) - (Attorney General's Office)
- Senate School Aid Subcommittee: MDE will be presenting on the GSRP formula. There will also be a presentation on the Early Learning Neighborhood Collaborative. This meeting is Wednesday at 8:30 a.m.
- House Military and Veterans Affairs Appropriations Subcommittee is holding a hearing on the status of the state's armories this Thursday at 9:00 a.m.

House General Government Subcommittee: Holding a series of hearings on a variety of topics under its purview beginning the week of October 17:

- October 21: BAM
- October 28: IT Investments
- November 4: Sexual Assault Kits

Legislation with Revenue Impact: I'm currently updating this list and will send it around in the next day or so.

Road Funding: Discussions still ongoing.

Hope this helps. Have a great week!

Advocacy/Opinion

An obscure failure of government

Flint water crisis: There's good news: The City of Flint could soon reconnect to the Detroit Water and Sewer Department, a water source that doesn't leach lead from aging pipes into the municipal water supply.

Column: Presumptive parole isn't safe for Michigan

"Public safety is the first responsibility of government. Unfortunately, legislation now being debated by the Michigan legislature could put the public's safety at risk. Last week, the House passed legislation that dramatically changes our criminal justice system, and now the Senate is considering this package of bills. We strongly oppose these bills, because they will allow the release of violent offenders back onto our streets."

Colleges and Universities to Participate in Workshop on Online Education Wednesday, October 14 in La

"October 13, 2015 – Representatives from Michigan's colleges and universities will gather Wednesday, October 14 at the University Club in Lansing to learn how participation in the Midwestern State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (M-SARA) can make their school's offering of online distance education more efficient and less costly. Michigan recently joined M-SARA with approval from the Midwestern Higher Education Compact resulting in streamlined regulation and greater student access to quality programs. With M-SARA, students can now be assured of access to, and quality of, their distance education provider, and should there be difficulties, students now have a complaint process available to them through the State of Michigan."

Speaker Cotter on presumptive parole

"House Speaker Kevin Cotter, R-Mt. Pleasant, issued the following statement on House Bill 4138, also known as 'presumptive parole:' "Presumptive parole is a responsible way to reform our broken prison system and protect the rights and safety of Michigan residents. Contrary to many reports, the proposed bill simply requires parole boards to give a compelling reason to deny parole when prisoners with a high probability of success have completed their minimum sentence. "The process is even simplified for parole boards by filtering out prisoners who don't have a high enough probability of success, including repeat offenders and prisoners who face additional charges. Any parole board willing to deny a man his freedom and keep him locked up beyond the court-ordered sentence ought to at least have a reason for doing so.""

Progressive Women's Legislative Caucus: Women Need Equal Pay Now

"LANSING — In the six months since the Progressive Women's Legislative Caucus has introduced a plan to make equal pay the law in Michigan, the average full-time working Michigan woman has lost about $6,369 in wages compared to the earnings of the average full-time working man in Michigan. While the Republicans who lead the Michigan House of Representatives continue to deny these bills a hearing, Michigan women are paying the price."

Pass presumptive parole reform to save millions without threatening public safety

"Oakland Press: Pass presumptive parole reform to save millions without threatening public safety

By Barbara Levine, Special to Digital First Media

The Michigan Department of Corrections (MDOC) spends nearly $2 billion annually; more than $1.6 billion is spent directly operating prisons. If all this spending improved public safety it would be worth it. However, it does not. Taxpayers would be better served if a portion of this money was spent to create safer and healthier communities.

Justice Viviano to introduce "Veterans Treatment Courts in Michigan: A Manual for Judges"

"WHAT: On Monday, Oct. 19, WMU-Cooley Law School, the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA) and the Michigan Supreme Court's State Court Administrative Office will introduce a new resource for Michigan judges and members of the court interested in developing Veterans Treatment Courts (VTCs). "Veterans Treatment Courts in Michigan: A Manual for Judges" is a compilation of best practices to address the special circumstances of veterans confronted with non-violent criminal charges and is designed to serve as a blueprint for the further development of specialty courts for veterans. The Veterans Treatment Courts manual will serve as a tool for district and circuit court judges who do not operate a VTC, but wish to develop one in their jurisdiction. In 2013, the Michigan Legislature created a broad set of standards that allowed local courts to establish VTCs as alternatives for veterans accused of certain crimes. Currently, Michigan leads the nation with 22 VTCs. More information about Veterans Treatment Courts and the manual can be found at courts.mi.gov/vetcourts."

Mitchell: We need leadership to solve road challenge

"We have all seen the struggles here in Michigan to find a solution to fix our roads. Late last year the legislature tried to pass the buck to voters by cobbling together the largest tax increase in Michigan in the last 50 years with much of the money generated earmarked for spending that had nothing to do with the roads. Sheehan: Parents, watch for signs of bullying

"As the excitement of back-to-school now slips into the day-to-day reality of scheduling, homework and afterschool activities, it's an important time to have a conversation with children about bullying, both to protect children from getting bullied, and prevent the bullying of others as well. October is National Bullying Prevention Month, and there are plenty of opportunities to engage children in the conversation."

Look for the right solution to curb violent crime

"The media and your social media feed seems convincing: America is awash in unprecedented, senseless gun violence. But did you know that the rate of reported gun homicides in the U.S. has actually plummeted by about half since 1993? Pew Research Center analysis of government data shows the number of firearm homicide deaths in the U.S. has steadily fallen from a rate of seven deaths per 100,000 in 1993 to a rate of 3.6 in 2010."

We've seen what happens without a prevailing wage in Michigan

"Somehow in Michigan, the value of our state's long-standing and valuable prevailing wage law has been turned into a union versus business issue, and has been presented by some lawmakers as something that adds expenses to the ultimate cost of taxpayer-funded state and local construction projects."

TW&N: K-3 Reading Bill Clears House; Teacher Eval bill passes; $25K isn't enough; and more

"Yesterday, the full House of Representatives passed HB 4822 (Price), the K-3 Reading bill, on a largely partisan vote of 57-48. HB 4822 will improve early literacy by focusing on annual screening; parental notification and participation; targeted strategies for struggling readers; and intensive intervention for students reading dramatically behind grade level. The most significant change in the bill was that implementation of potential retention will begin with 3rd grade students in 2019-20, two years later than in the Committee-passed bill. GLEP praised passage of the bill, noting the work of Rep. Amanda Price, Chair of the House Education Committee and the bill's primary sponsor, as well as House leadership for moving the bill. Republicans voting against the bill were Representatives Goike, Heise, Hooker, McBroom, Potvin and Somerville (Muxlow was absent); while Democrats voting for the bill were Representatives Santana, Schor and Brinks. Its Your Choice - a follower or a Leader standing against the liberal on slot

"The Choice is Yours - It has been an absolute honor and pleasure to be your Representative! The Choice is simply between someone who will protect the progressive leadership as they expand taxes/spending/crony capitalism versus someone who will fight every day against the progressive spending/taxing! It is your choice! Peabody/ Howell are the big lobbyist establishment favorites – you can see it by the # of the big glossy flyers being sent to cause you to support them – they know that these candidates will vote lock step w/ the Lansing crony political class against you – which means more taxes/more spending/ and of course more crony capitalism for politically connected corporations! If you want someone who will not flip over and sell your vote and who will not vote for a spending or tax increase then I need your support!"

Flint water crisis exposes Michigan's infrastructure funding problem

"It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the recent Flint drinking water crisis. However, this single incident also exposed a major flaw in a system that should ensure that all residents of Michigan have access to clean drinking water, not water that is treated from polluted rivers and is brought to them through aging, deteriorating pipes."

House Dems Reject Irresponsible, Unworkable Roads Plan

"LANSING – House Democrats resoundingly rejected a warmed-over rehash of the House Republicans' once-failed roads plan when it was brought up for a vote late Wednesday night. House Republicans managed to outdo themselves by making their failed plan from June even worse by adding on tax breaks for millionaires and billionaires while insisting on a plan that demands $600 million be cut from vitally important programs, including public safety, education and health care. The roads plan was voted out of the House late Wednesday night and will head to the Senate for consideration."

Let's find a clean water solution for Michigan

"It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the Flint drinking water crisis. However, this single incident also exposed a major flaw in a system that should ensure that all residents of Michigan have access to clean drinking water, not water that is treated from polluted rivers and is brought to them through aging, deteriorating pipes."

Advocacy/Opinion

A small victory for regional transit in metro Detroit

"If you're riding a bus up Woodward from Detroit to the suburbs, you shouldn't have to switch or transfer -- but for years in southeast Michigan, during most times of the day, that has been a staple of our dysfunctional transit system. "

Now who needs an emergency manager?

"The ongoing fiasco regarding fixing Michigan's roads suggests the need for an "emergency manager" for the Governor's office as well as the Michigan House and Senate. The members of the Senate and House have not only wasted time, they have also wasted the millions spent on their salaries during the past several years."

Column: Increase Social Security retirement age

"Bumping up the Social Security retirement age is fair and reasonable. It can help shore up the program's shaky solvency without saddling younger generations with excessive payroll taxes. That's why the idea attracts broad, bipartisan support. The need to curb the growth in Social Security spending grows with each passing year. The program has run cash-flow deficits for five consecutive years now. Absent policy changes, the deficits will only get worse."

Guest Column by State Representative Ray A. Franz

"Fix the roads! That has been the mantra for the last couple of years, but in reality, it is been repeated for decades. As they say, "you might be from Michigan if you have only two seasons: Winter and Construction." It is the nature of living in a state with a high water table that freezes and thaws. Mostly it is an excuse to get more money, because apparently nearly $4 billion a year isn't enough. "

On This Day In Michigan History

On Oct. 30, 1956, 52 boys at Romeo Community High School faced a deadline to either trim their Elvis Presley-like hairstyles or leave the school. The superintendent of Romeo Community High School imposed the deadline after teachers complained the students' sideburns and ducktail haircuts spawned defiant behavior. Barbers offered free haircuts to boys who could not afford them. All 52 boys reportedly complied with the deadline.

Nevshehir: Cuba is a new frontier for U.S. companies

"In light of the recent normalization of relations and restoration of diplomatic ties between the U.S. and Cuba, many local companies have expressed interest in exploring business opportunities in Cuba. And while there certainly are opportunities, companies must consider the challenges they will face in what is still a very Communist nation."

Pannebecker: Prevailing wage bad for Michigan

"The effort to allow workers in Michigan the freedom to decide for themselves whether to join and financially support a union was won in 2012, and became law in 2013. Michigan is now enjoying the job creating benefits of that reform, and is better off for it. The union bosses claimed that this freedom would destroy unions and dramatically reduce wages and benefits. That argument has been proven false, but the union bosses and the Democratic Party are trying to use it again to prevent the prevailing wage law from being repealed."

Help college students get their money's worth

"A college degree is the most important vehicle for economic success in our country. Two-thirds of all U.S. jobs will require a postsecondary education by 2020, up from 28 percent in 1973. And college graduates take home, on average, 60 percent higher annual earnings than their high school graduate counterparts, which adds up to about $830,000 more income over a lifetime."

Ken Braun: CNBC's clumsy handling kept real issues out of presidential debate

"CNBC was once the place where economic news was the only subject. While the hosts on other news channels stumbled into shout fests over social issues, CNBC was to dollars and cents what ESPN gave me for first downs and touchdowns — reliability. M-STEP Results Released; Detroit Worst City on NAEP; K-3 States Improve; Detroit Ed Reform; MPSERS a

*"M-STEP Results Show Less Than 50% of Michigan Students Proficient
On Tuesday, MDE released results from the 2015 M-STEP test, the new state assessment for students in grades 3-8. Considered a more rigorous test than the MEAP, this new test is aligned to our college-and-career-ready standards and requires more critical thinking over multiple choice answers. As expected, students performed less proficiently than on the MEAP, and the stats are alarming when you consider that less than 50% of students in the state are proficient in Math and English Language Arts. MDE only released statewide aggregate numbers this week, and other breakdowns and details will be released this fall via mischooldata.org."

Advocacy/Opinion

Why are lawmakers balking at ban?

"With looming issues like the state's inadequately funded road maintenance budget and the future of energy production in Michigan still unsolved, you'd hope that a clear-cut, seemingly obvious solution to one problem would be adopted and lawmakers would move on to the next."

Immigration reform would help Detroit

"As the pressure mounts on the United States to aid refugees worldwide, Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan are busy preparing Michigan to step up with resettlement efforts. Except for Germany, few European countries are recognizing the economic benefits that refugees and migrants can add to society. In Detroit, immigrants can jumpstart an underpopulated city's economy with new skills and resources. Political hurdles, however, are keeping the welcome mat form being rolled out."

How success of Snyder's DPS plan may land in voters' hands

"Early last week, Gov. Rick Snyder re-introduced his plan to address the longstanding financial and academic crises in Detroit Public Schools. The plan involves a number of structural changes to the district's current governance, management and educational systems. The governor now turns his attention to selling lawmakers and the public on his plan. Although the plan appears designed to avoid the need for a state appropriation for what some may consider a bailout, such an appropriation may still be necessary for the completion of the plan if Detroit voters do not approve a local tax renewal before 2022."

Magicians distract the audience's attention from what really takes place on the stage. In a similar fashion the Michigan Economic Development Corporation fosters an illusion that its accomplishments are substantive when they are primarily hokum. One would think at some point those who should know better, especially members of the news media, would figure this out.

Detroit students unfairly pay the price for the district's debts

"The Detroit Public Schools district (DPS) is facing very serious challenges. It was recently reported that DPS ranked last in academic achievement (4th and 8th graders) among large urban districts nationally on the National Assessment of Educational Progress, also known as the Nation's Report Card. This was the fourth time in a row that DPS ranked at the bottom. Also, the district is grappling with major financial problems, including annual operating deficits and massive legacy debts. Both sets of problems, academic and financial, are interrelated and require immediate attention in order to halt the "death spiral" in which the district currently finds itself.'"

Let's end the harmful state ID policy

"Like anyone else, I want — no, I need — for the ID I carry to be an accurate reflection of who I am. And yet the State of Michigan makes this virtually impossible for me — and countless other transgender women and men in Michigan — thanks to an arbitrary, transphobic and mean-spirited Secretary of State ID policy that needlessly exposes transgender women and men to potential harm. Whiteford & Howell Win in Special House Elections

"Mary Whiteford (R-Casco Township), endorsed and supported by the Great Lakes Education Project (GLEP), was successful in Tuesday's special primary election to fill a vacancy in the 80th State House district. Whiteford came out on top of 8 Republican candidates to earn the nomination in the Allegan County seat. The special primary election was necessary due to the expulsion of former Representative Cindy Gamrat on September 11. Also, Gary Howell won the special primary election in the 82nd District, a seat vacant due to the resignation of former Representative Todd Courser. GLEP supported Jan Peabody, who came in 2nd among 11 Republican candidates in this Lapeer County seat. The general election for both of these safe Republican seats will be held on March 8, 2016."

Natural Resources Commission approves special Lake Gogebic walleye regulations

"At Thursday's regular meeting of the Michigan Natural Resources Commission, commissioners unanimously approved special walleye sportfishing regulations for the Upper Peninsula's Lake Gogebic. The new regulations, which take immediate effect, will allow anglers the option of keeping two smaller walleyes — from 13 inches up to 15 inches — within their five-fish daily possession limit. The proposed rule change, however, will not require anglers to keep fish smaller than 15 inches."

Advocacy/Opinion

M-STEP scores may shock, but don't shoot the messenger

"Five long years ago, Michigan and more than 40 other states adopted tough new standards in reading and math, setting dramatically higher expectations for students in elementary and secondary schools. Now we've reached a critical milestone in this effort, as the public just got to see for the first time the scores on the new tests aligned to the standards. The news was sobering. "

Pavlov: Michigan needs more jobs, not handouts

"The greatest bipartisan achievement of the 1990s was welfare reform, and it was also the most successful social and economic experiment of the post-war era. In fact, Michigan and then-Gov. John Engler were national leaders for reform at the time. You'll probably remember that liberals protested furiously and claimed that if we insisted people work for their welfare benefits that thousands would be starving and freezing to death in the streets — even in the summer! But contrary to their predictions, people got off welfare, got jobs, joined the middle class, and we had a strong, growing economy that worked for everyone."

Our Editorial: Auto pacts place pay over jobs

"The UAW made remarkable economic gains in this year's negotiations with the Big Three automakers, largely by gradually eliminating the second wage tier imposed on them eight years ago. The two-tier system helped then-struggling automakers save on labor costs, but drastically reduced the earnings expectation of newly hired autoworkers.

Headaches of Road Funding and Courser-Gamrat Scandal Now Blowing In the Wind

"The two stories that most dominated Michigan politics in 2015 were, to a large extent, simultaneously resolved last week. Gov. Rick Snyder and the Republican-controlled Legislature reached agreement on a $1.2 billion road funding package. On the same day the package passed, Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat, the lawmakers forced out of the House over allegations they abused their power to cover up a sex scandal, lost their bids to return to office via special elections."

How one plucky Michigan town is rebuilding its housing market

"At age 27, Sarah DeNoyer found herself tired of renting and ready to take the next step into adulthood. But a housing search in her native Ferndale, near Detroit, left DeNoyer feeling dispirited. Nothing she liked was in her price range, and the affordable options weren't even close to what she wanted. So she did what homebuyers do all the time: Looked elsewhere. Which led her to the adjacent community of Hazel Park, and a starter home she fell in love with."

Dems Bring GOP Accountability Campaign to Flint, Blast 'Reckless and Irresponsible' Roads Plan

"FLINT – Today Democratic leaders blasted Representative Joe Graves and his fellow Republican lawmakers for ramming through a so-called "roads plan" that forces working families to pay more, but then doesn't actually fix the roads. The Democrats' visit comes amidst a statewide ad blitz launching this week, calling out the GOP for passing legislation that unfairly hits Michigan families with a new birthday tax by increasing registration fees 20%, raises the gas tax drivers pay at the pump by $400 million, cuts schools, police and fire, but doesn't even fix the roads until 2021, if ever."

MI Health Link Open Enrollment Continues, Offers Coordinated Services

"LANSING, Mich. – Every year, Medicare's open enrollment period is October 15 through December 7. Choosing or changing a Medicare plan can sometimes be confusing. That's why the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is reminding eligible residents about the open enrollment period for a new option called MI Health Link. MI Health Link is a program that links both Medicare and Medicaid services through your choice of a single health plan. That single health plan then provides access to all covered care and services. Advocacy/Opinion

Hamilton: Congress should kick bad budget habits

"You can understand why President Barack Obama and congressional leaders on both sides of the aisle sought to cast their recent budget deal in the best possible light. They avoided a potentially catastrophic national default. They reduced the possibility of a government shutdown. And they raised the debt ceiling until March 2017, taking that bargaining chip off the table until the next president is in the White House."

Path to avoiding unwanted end-of-life medical treatment

"My mom paid a painful price for not completing an advance directive about her preferences for end-of-life medical care. She was an intelligent and organized woman who had everything in her and my dad's life planned out and written down. She even drafted her own obituary. Ironically, she never discussed her end-of-life care goals with my father or her physician son (me), preferring to talk about more pleasant subjects."

When the Free Press met Dr. Ben Carson ... in 1988

"Long, long ago — decades before Ben Carson embarked on his unlikely presidential campaign (but well after the pyramids he attributes to the biblical prophet Joseph began springing up west of the Nile River), a Detroit Free Press reporter named Antoinette Martin wrote a long profile of the Detroit-born neurosurgeon, who had recently achieved international acclaim after separating two twin brothers conjoined at the head."

Ben Carson and Donald Trump: Clash of the narcissists!

"Donald Trump had a public meltdown in Iowa the other night. That was hardly unusual, except that this particular meltdown seemed more genuinely spontaneous, and thus more revealing, than the orchestrated rants that have been the meat and potatoes of Trump's outrage-a-day campaign."

More needs to be done for Michigan sex-trafficking victims

"Shared Hope International, a nonprofit that monitors and advocates for sex-trafficking legislation at the state level, has been grading states for the last four years – and Michigan received an "F" from 2011 to 2014. Gov. Rick Snyder, Attorney General Bill Schuette and the state legislature should be commended, however, for taking a number of steps to tackle this global problem at a local level, including the formation of the Michigan Human Trafficking Commission."

Michigan consumers deserve 'patient-centered' care

"When Michigan residents access health care services, they should ask for and expect to be part of a "patient centered medical home" through a primary care provider. After less than five years using the new model, primary care practices report significant improvements in the biggest health care challenges facing Michigan's population — obesity, diabetes, hypertension and other issues that affect our aging residents in large numbers and lead to chronic hospital and emergency room visits and huge costs for those who pay the bills."
